SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 11.—(UP)—President Roosevelt tonight placed a wreath in the Alamo, the little mission-fort where 182 Texans died to the last man rather than surrender to 3,000 Mexican troops led by the tyrant General Santa Anna.

"The Alamo stands out in high relief as our noblest exemplification of sacrifice, heroic and pure," the President said at the little building which has become a shrine for every Texan.

Mr. Roosevelt came here from Houston, where he visited the battlefield of San Jacinto, scene of the deciding battle in the Texas war for independence a century ago. At San Jacinto, the Texas army led by Sam Houston conquered Santa Anna a few weeks after the fall of the Alamo, which occurred on February 23, 1836.

First Visit to Alamo.
"Fate has been kind to me today," Mr. Roosevelt said tonight. "In my travels, a visit to the Alamo has hitherto been impossible. I, therefore, welcome the opportunity in visiting this shrine to pay my small tribute to the heroes who laid down their lives a hundred years ago in order that Texas might become, first, an independent nation, and later a mighty state in our union."

Sisk, Doomed to Chair, Given 30-Day Respite

S. W. Sisk, condemned slayer of David A. Lord, was granted a 30-day respite yesterday by Governor Talmadge. He was under sentence to die in the electric chair Wednesday.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Emmett Quinn said he was notified of the Governor's action late yesterday afternoon. Sisk is seeking executive clemency.

Sisk's appeal from the Fulton superior court sentence of death was recently denied and Judge G. H. Howard two weeks ago set June 17 as the date for his execution. Sisk was found guilty of participating in the murder of Lord in a Center Hill filling station in December, 1934. Marvin Holmes, also convicted, has paid the death penalty, and Sam Daniel is serving a life sentence in connection with the crime.

Democrats To Reply "Four Long Years"

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(UP)—"Four long years" was the democratic answer tonight to the republican national convention chant of "three long years."

Apparently a definite publicity campaign to direct attention to the "four long years" of Herbert Hoover's administration in contrast to the G. O. P. assault on the "three long years" of the New Deal was being launched.

Speaker of the House, William B. Bankhead, democrat, Alabama, issued a statement through the democratic national committee in which he commented sarcastically on Hoover's convention speech and said:

"For four long years, Mr. Hoover sat in the White House and did nothing effective—absolutely nothing—to halt the collapse of the country's banking system."

STATE PRESS BODY HONORS FOUNDERS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO

Golden Jubilee Marked by

Maddox Speaks.

By STILES A. MARTIN.
Constitution State News Editor.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., June 11.—Turning back the pages for 50 years to review the history of the organization for half a century, and presentation of an outline of what is being done to promote health in Georgia, were the main features of the opening day's sessions of the Georgia Press Association.

The association opened its golden jubilee observance unofficially here last night and officially this morning at 9:30 o'clock, Atlanta time. Five living charter members who helped to form the Weekly Press Association just 50 years ago, all spoke at the forenoon session. The main anniversary address was delivered by Major R. J. Guinn, of Atlanta.

A feature of the exercises today was the introduction of editors who have served 50 years or longer. Clark Howell, editor and president of The Constitution, spoke briefly for the group.

Maddox Speaks.
Robert F. Maddox, Atlanta banker and chairman of the Georgia Board of Health, principal speaker at tonight's session, told the editors that, while last year the state spent $25,000,000 for roads and schools, it made the "ri-

Republican Platform Is Praised by Hoover

NEW YORK, June 11.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover tonight described the republican party platform as "the fighting, definite and progressive statement the country needs."

The complete statement follows: "The platform admirably covers the principles and methods I have so repeatedly advocated. The platform is the fighting, definite and progressive statement the country needs. When put into force by the American people, these principles will regenerate the country."

"Governor Landon's statement amply covers any other points that may be in question."

GOVERNOR TO GIVE 'TALMADGE SLATE' IN M'RAE SPEECH

Fate of Hugh Howell,
After Break With 'Boss',
Now Centers Interest of Political Observers.

By L. A. FARRELL.

The political fate of Hugh Howell, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, who is threatening to bolt Governor Talmadge, held the center of the stage in Georgia politics yesterday as the Governor announced he will make public his full slate of candidates at his July 4 meeting at McRae.

The speculation concerned not only how far the state chairman would go in leaving Talmadge, but also how far Talmadge would go in leaving the chairman. In the past those who have crossed Talmadge, directly or indirectly, all have met the same fate. They have been excluded from the Talmadge picture. The case of Howell, as far as Talmadge is concerned, doubtless will be determined by the chairman's speech tomorrow at Danielsville, where he has said he will have something to say regarding himself. Observers predicted yesterday that, despite the Governor's direct leanings toward Senate President Charles D. Redwine, the state chairman will cast another long look toward the governorship, come what may.

Both Silent.

Neither Talmadge nor Howell would comment yesterday on published reports of the rift between them. Howell said any statement would have to come from the Governor and the Governor, answering questions of newspapermen, urged them to speculate further. Redwine, likewise, withheld comment.

Talmadge stated definitely that from the stump at McRae he would tell the people who he wanted elected to office this year, making it clear he has not yet announced he is not a candidate for Governor himself.

It is generally regarded that his announcements at McRae will reveal him for Talmadge for the senate, for Redwine for Governor, for J. B. Howell for treasurer and for Homer C. Parker, of Statesboro, for comptroller general. The Governor said that there may be other offices he will be interested in and if so he would call them by name. He doubtless was referring to the Public Service Commission over which there will be contests.

Hands Off Two.

The present Talmadge view is to let Secretary of State John B. Wilson and Superintendent of Schools M. D. Collins alone. He does not anticipate the support of either, but by not shooting them in the neutral zone throughout the summer—if anyone stays in the neutral zone.

SUPREME COUNCILS WILL RULE RUSSIA

Proposed Constitution To Grant Equal Voting
Rights to All Citizens.

MOSCOW, June 11.—(AP)—An official program for the building of "soviet democracy" which calls for a government through two parliamentary bodies to be known as supreme councils was made public tonight.

The president of the all-union central executive committee approved the text of a proposed new constitution for the U. S. S. R. and convoked a session of the all-union congress of soviets for November 25 to pass on the constitution.

Members of the two bodies will be elected for terms of four years and have the rights of initiating and promulgating legislation.

Drawn up under the personal supervision of Joseph Stalin, the constitution grants equal rights to all citizens regardless of class or origin and those disfranchised by the courts.

It establishes a system of direct and secret elections and extends citizenry rights to freedom of speech and press.

Supreme Council.

The parliament as a whole, or two chambers combined, is to be known as the supreme court of the U. S. S. R. Individual chambers will be called council of the union, and council of nationalities. The former will be made up of approximately 600 deputies and the latter approximately half that number.

Deputies of the council of the union will be elected directly by the citizenry, the ratio being one delegate to each 300,000 inhabitants.

Deputies to the council of nationalities.

ALFRED M. LANDON

HARVEY CAPTURED NEAR NASHVILLE

Picture in Constitution
Brings About Arrest of Notorious Fugitive.

Leland Harvey, 27, whose career of crime includes 13 escapes from various jails and gangs and a pardon from Governor Talmadge, yesterday was again in jail, with his companion, Robert Williams who, although less adept in the ledgerdom of scaling prison walls, escaped with the notorious Harvey from the Troup county gang on May 18.

The two were captured late Wednesday night by officers near Nashville as they drove into a beer garden. Harvey was using the name of R. M. Chandler, whose automobile the pair is said to have stolen on May 18 as it sat parked in front of a Macon hotel.

The capture of Harvey was brought about through a picture of him carried on the front page of The Constitution, issue of May 19, it was revealed last night.

In the machine was a veritable arsenal, consisting of automatic pistols, an automatic rifle, an army revolver and several hundred rounds of ammunition. Newspaper accounts of the escape also were found in a search of the car.

No Extradition Needed.

Although Governor Talmadge announced during the day he would sign any extradition papers needed in an effort to expedite the return of one of the state's most notorious convicts, Edward A. Smith, assistant United States district attorney at Macon, said no extradition will be necessary as

Retail Sales Increase In District Revealed

Exceeded by only one federal reserve district in the nation, the Atlanta area, for the first five months of the present year has shown a sharp increase in department store sales. It was reported yesterday by the federal reserve board.

The value of sales for the period showed an increase of 10 per cent over those of the corresponding period of 1935.

Indicative of booming business in this district, the report also revealed a sharp increase in department store sales in May, contrary to the usual seasonal tendency. For the month, the gain of 13 per cent was exceeded by only one other district, that of Cleveland.

The general retail trade tone for the year and for the month showed substantial increases in all sections of the nation.

Landon Is Accorded Giant Demonstration

TOPEKA, Kan., June 11.—(AP)—Governor Alf M. Landon, nominated for the presidency tonight, promised his fellow republicans an aggressive campaign and expressed heart-felt appreciation to his fellow Kansans as a celebration unequalled here since news of the armistice roared through Topeka.

Thousands of people, jammed in the streets and on the spacious lawns of the rambling Kansas executive mansion, shouted a greeting to the governor as he stepped to the porch to acknowledge his nomination.

Shortly before he had told newsmen: "If nominated I propose to wage

LEGALITY OF LOAN BY COUNTY UPHELD

State Supreme Court Says
Fulton Has Right To Borrow $2,000,000.

The supreme court yesterday upheld the legality of Fulton county's $2,000,000 bank loan in the absence of a state appropriation act. The high court affirmed a decision of a three-judge superior court and the court will proceed at once to make the loan which already has been arranged with the three Atlanta clearing house banks.

The supreme court ruling was written by Justice Price Gilbert and concurred in by all other members of the bench. The court did not rule on the legality of taxes in the absence of the appropriation bill.

The constitutional amendment of 1927 confers upon counties therein named an absolute power to borrow money in an amount not exceeding the limits fixed for any lawful purpose, the court ruled.

Power Grant Absolute.

The grant of power to make the loan was absolute and independent of the actual collection of taxes during the current year.

Apart from any question of state appropriations act or tax rate, it must be said to have granted to counties specified in the proposed amendment the absolute right to make temporary loans between March 1 and December 1.

The argument advanced by the plaintiff in error, that no loan could be made unless it could be paid out of taxes levied and collected the same year, would, if it be regarded as sound, render the amendment an idle gesture.

The constitutional amendment referred to grants the three counties

ment If Necessary.

PUBLIC HALL, CLEVELAND, June 11.—(UP)—Governor Alf M. Landon, of Kansas, communicated tonight to the republican national convention a statement that he was in favor of an amendment of the constitution to protect working conditions of women and children and return to the gold standard.

The text of Landon's telegram, read by his campaign manager, John D. M. Hamilton, follows:

"To the delegates of the republican national convention:

"My name is to be presented for your consideration as a candidate for the nomination for President of the United States. The platform recommended by your committee on resolutions and adopted by the convention has been communicated to me. I note that according to the terms of the platform, the nomination tendered by this convention carries with it, as a matter of private honor and public good faith, an undertaking by each candidate to be true to the principles and program herein set forth."

Accept Word, Spirit.

"If nominated, I unqualifiedly accept the word and spirit of that undertaking."

"However, with that candor which you and the country are entitled to expect of me, I feel compelled before you proceed with the consideration of my name to submit my interpretation of certain planks in the platform so that you may be advised as to my

Cool, Cloudy Weather Forecast for Today

The best the weatherman can do for today, he says, after conferring with this and that instrument of a weather forecaster's laboratory, is a prediction of slightly cooler weather and the usual "not much hope of rain."

Today's high temperature is scheduled to be about the same as that of yesterday, 85 degrees, but the mercury will start at 80 degrees instead of at the 60-degree starting point of yesterday.

The only thing promised in the way of moisture is "possibility" of scattered light showers over the state.

In Washington, Representative B. Frank Welch, of Georgia, advocated passage of specific relief legislation for drought-stricken areas, declaring any surplus of the department of agriculture—estimated by other sources at possibly $15,000,000—would be "only a drop in the bucket."

CONVENTION HALL, CLEVELAND, June 11.—(AP)—Alfred M. Landon, twice governor of Kansas, was unanimously nominated for president tonight by the republican national convention. Wisconsin voted 18 of its 24 votes for Borah, but later asked that all its vote go to Landon.

He notified the delegates, even before his selection was formally voted, that he favored a currency "expressed in terms of gold," and a constitutional amendment, if necessary, to permit the states to pass minimum wage laws.

Colonel Frank Knox, of Illinois, was most prominently boomed tonight for vice president. However, a move to draft Senator Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan, for second place on the ticket was shaping simultaneously among some delegates, despite his repeated statements that he would not accept. That nomination is expected tomorrow.

Other Candidates Release Delegates.

Knox and Vandenberg both had delegates pledged to them for president, but together with Senator Borah and all other contenders they released their supporters this morning in the face of the overpowering Landon sweep, and addressed the convention in praise of Landon tonight.

No other name than that of the victor was placed before the convention. The convention accepted him with a roaring whoop of approval and topped off the nomination with an old-time marching, howling parade of celebration.

The platform also had been adopted by acclamation and without debate, after the long discussion in committee. It attacked many New Deal measures, but promised to provide farm aid, insure adequate relief through state administration, and enact an old-age pension law.

Advocate Balancing of Budget.

It also advocated balancing the budget by reducing expenditures and not by taxation. It copied exactly the words of the 1932 democratic platform in espousing "a sound currency," but omitted mention of the gold standard, and suggested that the states could constitutionally set up minimum wage laws.

It was in reference to the two latter planks that Governor Landon telegraphed his views to the convention. He pledged himself to abide by the platform, however, and added his own views as explanatory rather than contradictory of the wording of the party declaration of principles.

Shortly before the platform was adopted, former President Hoover telegraphed the California delegation objecting to omission of a more direct pledge to gold. The Hoover message was not read to the convention, and comparatively few delegates heard of it.

Although nearly all of Governor Landon's rivals for the nomination had some hand in opening the way for his selection, the attitude of one remained in doubt tonight.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, who more than once had hinted at a bolt and who now strenuously opposed any commitment to gold, left Cleveland without disclosing his intentions and without learning of the telegram from Governor Landon. When advised of it at Akron, Ohio, he was visibly affected and said "He should have sent it sooner."

The time-consuming platform strongly stressed the matter of "state's rights." It called for the return of relief to the states, with government aid, and contained a monetary plank lifted from the democratic platform

TENNESSEE IS READY TO TRY OIL CASES
NASHVILLE, June 11.—(AP)—District Attorney General J. Carlton Loser said today that the state is ready for the trial Monday of three men accused of conspiracy to defraud the state in connection with alleged gasoline tax evasions.
The three are A. C. Taylor, an oil broker of Texas; G. G. Gean, of Halls, and W. H. Land, of Memphis. Jointly indicted with them was J. H. Campbell, a refinery agent of Texas, who jumped bond, and Loser said the trial would go ahead without him.

The trial originally was set for June 8 but a one-week postponement was granted on petition of Taylor, whose counsel said they had had insufficient notice.
Besides Gean, Taylor, Land and Campbell, ten others were indicted but their trials have not been set.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN OFFER

Tokyo Believes Two Powers

(Copyright, 1936, by the United Press.)
CANTON, South China, June 12.—(Friday).—(UP)—A frantic last-minute effort to avert war between South China provinces led by Kwangtung and Kwankai leaders and the Central China regime in Nanking headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was under way today.

Nanking flatly charged the Cantonese with conspiring with Japan to force a new civil war which would bleed China and make her an easy prey to "Japanese imperialism." Cantonese leaders, sneering at the Nanking allegations, said the prime reason for the northward march of their armies was to force the "cowardly Central China regime" to join the south in a drive to expel Japanese forces from the North China provinces.

Red Hand Seen.
Japanese charged British and Russian Bolshevik agents were attempting to incite both the Canton and Nanking factions to join in a joint military expedition against Japan. It was said that secret British and Russian support, including munitions, was promised.

Most of the efforts at conciliation were coming from Nanking where 10 Cantonese members of the central executive committee of the nationalistic (Koumintang) party telegraphed Chen Chi-tang, head of the Canton forces—charging that Japanese provocative agents had induced the war lords of the South China provinces to rise against Nanking because of their desire to oust Chiang Kai-shek, who has been charged with a program designed to establish himself as dictator of all China.

The C. E. C. committeemen urged Chen to use his good offices to stop the northward advance of more than 200,000 South China troops, which, for a week, have been advancing in the direction of Hankow, occupation of which would render the position of the Nanking armies untenable.

Decline Parley.
Meantime the southern leaders here were reported to have rejected an invitation to attend a session in Nanking on July 10 of the C. E. C., which nominally represents all nationalist party factions in the country.

A huge student demonstration to support the northern march was planned for tomorrow but student leaders were reported loath to order out their members because of rumors of a split within the southern military ranks, between the provincial factions of Kwangtung and Kwangsi. New charges were made that Pai Chun-hai, the Kwangsi war lord, hoped to steal the whole southern movement as soon as the Yangtze valley regions are occupied and make himself the supreme military figure in China. It also was reported that Japanese agents were selling military supplies to Kwangsi and furnishing Pai Chun-hai with military advisers who were replacing other foreign advisers formerly in his employ.

The British gunboats Cicada and Tarantula were standing off the Canton bund, in the Pearl river.

GEORGIANS WILL HONOR IVAN ALLEN TOMORROW

Tablet to Atlantan Will Be Unveiled on Top of Fort Mountain.

J. H. Gadsby, regional officer of National Park Service, will be one of the chief speakers at the ceremonies to be held at Fort Mountain State Park tomorrow afternoon, when many citizens from Atlanta and towns throughout north Georgia will be present to witness the unveiling of a tablet honoring Ivan Allen, prominent Atlanta businessman and donor of the first plot of land making possible the state park.

Mayor Oliver R. Hardin, of Dalton, where Allen was reared, has declared tomorrow "Ivan Allen Day." Delegations from Dalton, Atlanta, Cartersville, Calhoun, Rome, Blue Ridge, Jasper, Ellijay and Canton have arranged to attend the ceremonies by motorcade.

Speaking at the unveiling, in addition to Gadsby, will be Mayor Hardin, Mrs. M. E. Judd, chairman of the state park committee, and Mayor Key, who will express Atlanta's appreciation for the honoring of one of her citizens. Colonel R. Noel Steed, assistant solicitor general of the Cherokee circuit, will be master of ceremonies.

Atlantans attending the unveiling are advised to leave here promptly at noon, motorizing to the mountain by way of Dalton and Chatsworth. The Atlanta delegation will include many of Allen's friends in the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, Retail Merchants' Association and other civic and business organizations. The exercises will begin at 3:30 o'clock Atlanta time.

Living at Dalton while a boy, Allen often made hiking trips to the present state preservation and wished that some day he could own the top of Fort Mountain. He purchased the site later in life and donated it for the development of the preservation when plans were first being made to construct the state park.

Mayor Hardin's proclamation honoring the donor reads in part:

"I do hereby proclaim Saturday, June 13, 1936, as 'Ivan Allen Day' in the city of Dalton, and call on all our citizens to attend said ceremony on Fort Mountain and partake in honoring a former citizen of our city whose generosity and civic spirit so greatly aided in making possible this wonderful scenic asset to our community."

WOMAN IS SENTENCED FOR KILLING OF BABY

When Fannie Belle McDowell, negro woman, shot at a negro man because he broke a bottle on the street in front of her, she killed the year-old baby of her best friend, the woman admitted yesterday in Fulton superior court, where, by a consent verdict, she was sentenced to serve from two and a half to five years in prison.

The negro woman became so incensed at Major Baine, negro, when he dropped his bottle, that she attempted to murder him but shot accidentally an innocent witness, Robert White, the baby of Fannie's friend, Blondine Goodwill, negro. The friend asked mercy for Fannie and the sentence was arranged by Assistant Solicitor Quincey Arnold and Attorney H. A. Allen. Judge G. H. Howard consented and the verdict was signed by a jury which heard no evidence.

Carelessness Takes Toll of 100,000 3 Billion Sliced From Incomes in '35

CHICAGO, June 11.—(AP)—American carelessness in 1935 footed up to a loss of 100,000 lives and a $3,450,000,000 slice from the total income, the National Safety Council reported today.

In addition, 9,340,000 persons suffered non-fatal injuries.

The council's average showed 274 persons killed every day of the year by accidents. It estimated the total daily cost for lost income, doctor's bills, hospital fees and the overhead cost of insurance alone at $9,500,000. Traffic fatalities, against which the council last January 1 began a five-year campaign of education after 1935's total climbed to a new all-time high of 37,000, were first among the causes of accidental death. Motor vehicle accidents also permanently disabled 105,000 persons and temporarily disabled 1,180,000.

Second most dangerous spot for Americans last year was the home. A total of 31,500 deaths in accidents there the council said "indicated members of American families, without apparent concern for loss of life moved blithely about their homes—tumbling down stairs, falling out of windows, drowning themselves, getting cut and burned, dying by the thousands."

Home accidents permanently disabled 140,000; injured 4,460,000. Other major accidental causes of death were listed:

Public accidents—including drownings, burns, falls, heat prostration, deaths by freezing, railroads, firearms, poisoning—cost 18,000 lives, permanently disabled 60,000 persons and temporarily disabled 2,100,000.

Occupational accidents—16,500 lives, 63,000 permanently disabled, and injuries to 1,340,000.

In the occupational group, work on or connected with the farm caused more fatalities than any other classification of employment with a 4,400 total. Trade and service industries listed 4,000 deaths; construction operations 2,500; mining and other extractive work 1,800 deaths.

From the ranks of persons in their most productive years, between the age of 25 and 64, accidents claimed the largest quota of fatalities for the 100,000 total. This group had 47,900 dead. The "65 years or more" classification was second with 24,800 dead.

Motor vehicle accidents constituted the greatest accidental destroyer of life in all age groups except children less than five years and the eldest in. Falls led in the latter classification.

THREE MEALS A DAY

HOME TESTED RECIPES

Sally Sawyer

Let's have a picnic!

You may gain an inspiration from the above illustration showing a suggested array of some of the necessary food and beverage items, which make a meal in the out-of-doors so delightful.

The first duty to be taken care of is to select a suitable hamper in which the food may be carefully packed. Then lay out all the things you plan to take with you to see that you have sufficient knives, forks, spoons, cups, sugar, salt and pepper and last, but not least, enough sandwiches and all the other eatables to make your picnic lunch complete.

As the beverage, those who prefer coffee may arrange to take this along in a thermos bottle or jug, or prepare it at your picnic site. If a cold beverage is desired, beer or lemonade will answer the purpose admirably.

Here are some especially delicious sandwiches—some of them hearty enough to appease the most ravenous outdoor appetite.

Ham Loaf Sandwich.

Two cups of cooked ham, 1 1/2 cupful of dry bread crumbs, 1 small onion, 2 canned pimentos, small amount of green pepper, 1-8 cupful of tomato soup.

Chop the first ingredients and mix thoroughly with the tomato soup, adding enough water to moisten. Bake in a loaf. When cold slice and use between buttered bread, with or without lettuce and mayonnaise.

Roast Beef.

Chop very fine enough roast beef to make 1 cupful. To it add pepper, salt, a little chopped onion, and enough fresh horseradish to soften the mixture. Spread between generous slices of white or whole-wheat bread.

Salmon Sandwich.

Mix flaked salmon with boiled salad dressing, and spread between thin slices of bread. Or mix salmon with lemon juice to form a paste, and spread between buttered slices of rye bread.

Tomato and Egg.

Put hard-cooked eggs through the food chopper and moisten with tomato catsup. Spread on lettuce leaves placed between slices of buttered bread. Season with salt and pepper.

Cheese and Nut Sandwich.

Spread 1 slice of buttered bread with pimento cheese. Sprinkle thickly with coarsely chopped, broken nuts, preferably pecan. Salt, lay on lettuce leaf and put another slice on top.

Chicken Sandwiches.

Put 1-3 cup chicken, 2 olives, 1-4 green pepper, 1 hard-cooked egg through food chopper, add 1-2 teaspoons chili sauce and 2 tablespoons mayonnaise. Mix well and spread on buttered rye bread.

Liverwurst Sandwiches.

One-fourth cup sliced pickles, 1 small onion, 1-2 cup liverwurst, few drops lemon juice, 3 tablespoons mayonnaise.

Put the pickle and onion through the food chopper. Work the liverwurst into a paste and add the pickles, onions, lemon juice and mayonnaise—spread thickly between buttered slices of rye bread.

Potato Salad.

One quart of diced cooked potatoes, 3 hard-cooked eggs, diced; 1 medium-size onion, chopped fine; 1 cupful of celery, chopped; 1 cupful of salad dressing (half boiled dressing and half mayonnaise), salt and pepper.

Cook the potatoes without paring. Cool and cut into dice. Add the eggs, onion and celery and moisten with the salad dressing to suit the taste. Season with salt and pepper. Diced cucumbers or a diced cooked beet may be added. Chopped stuffed olives, green pepper or pimento adds zest, as does a small amount of chopped smoked herring or sardines.

Apple and Tuna Fish Salad.

Two apples, pared and diced; juice of 1-2 lemon, 2 cups tuna fish, flaked; 1-2 cup celery, diced; 3-4 cup mayonnaise.

Sprinkle apples with lemon juice. Add tuna fish and celery; then mayonnaise. Toss together lightly. Arrange on crisp lettuce. Garnish with additional mayonnaise and strips of green pepper.

Stuffed Eggs.

Six hard-cooked eggs, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1-4 teaspoon salt.

Cut eggs in half lengthwise, remove yolks, mash, and blend with mayonnaise, vinegar and salt. Refill whites.

Delicious Sandwich Combinations.

Peanut butter and raspberry jam on thin slices of whole-wheat bread.

Cream cheese and red current jelly on bread.

Orange marmalade on white bread or fruit bread.

Sliced boiled ham and pepper relish on rye bread.

Chopped hard-cooked eggs, sour pickles and mayonnaise, mixed and seasoned on white or whole-wheat bread.

Baked Beans and Sherry.

Those who insist on serving hot dishes on a picnic may delight in preparing baked beans with sherry wine. To prepare baked beans for a picnic, bake them in a glass casserole. Plan so the beans will get done just before you are ready to leave. Immediately upon removing the beans from the oven, wrap the casserole and its contents in layers of newspapers. Hours later you will be able to serve them hot as desired.

Prepare baked beans in your favorite manner and during the last hour of baking add one cup domestic sherry wine for each pound of beans used. Unless you are particularly fond of salt pork

Insistence-Upon-Harmony Note Takes Hold at G. O. P. Convention

All Groups, Individuals Show Inclination To Avoid Party
Strife at Cleveland Meeting, Writer
Declares.

BY KIRKE SIMPSON

CLEVELAND, June 11.—(AP)—The major impression this convention leaves with an onlooker is the insistence-upon-harmony note. It was not merely the attitude of party elder statesmen. It flowed out to the convention managers from the republican rank and file on the floor, and from the republican voters back home whom they represent.

It seeped from the restlessly surging, foot-weary crowds in hotel corridors into all convention back rooms, smoke filled or otherwise. It made convention and party history. It was destined to shape the ticket and write the platform. It killed the stop-Landon idea a-borning.

It made a Kansas sunflower the certain symbol, and "Oh Susannah" the theme song for the republican presidential campaign because to many opinion in the convention the men they represented were the outstanding harmony candidate, free of old party animosities.

Insistence upon harmony is not quite the same as harmony, as an eye-to-eye seeing among all factors on all vexing political, social and economic problems. But that inner spirit of the convention wanted no fresh memories of open strife to take with it into the campaign. It brushed aside many personal aspirations in favor of that strangely flowering Landon sunflower boom because therein it saw the most available bridge across the east-west chasm that has so long vexed party councils, in and out of convention.

That is the explanation of the sunflower dominance of the convention scene from its first appearance as the

Landon badge on the streets of the convention city. To party corporals and sergeants who composed the delegations, to the captains and colonels on the platform, even to the rarely seen generals maneuvering from hotel rooms, that sunflower spelled escape from such desperate battles over ticket or platform as had been so widely predicted.

That harmony demand motif of the convention was otherwise plain to the eye and ear. It accounted for the strange spectacle of a fervent demonstration for a former party chieftain, Herbert Hoover, at the same time that a powerful influence was being accorded Hoover's old foe, Senator Borah, upon platform shaping. It could be seen in Mr. Hoover's own attitude as he turned smilingly from the din of a convention giving him acclaim and vindication short only of another nomination, to speed off about his business as a private citizen. It was a scene Mr. Hoover will treasure among his memories.

That Hoover demonstration, as recorded by the convention hall "applause indicator," again and again touched the 100 topmark for noise intensity. Yet the indicator is a one-dimension affair. Its pulsing, leaping white light measures only volume, not emotional intensity.

In electrical ear is dull to the steady quality that comes into a convention roar when a stampeding spirit takes hold. That quality was lacking. Its note never was heard to indicate a last-minute Hoover sweep to nomination.

And Mr. Hoover as well as the convention management and the convention itself knew it.

MY COOKERY

By MISS RUTH CHAMBERS.

Meat is a necessity in the daily diet of the average person. It is needed for its food value, first of all. It is desirable, too, because it stimulates the appetite. The high quality of meat protein is one of the chief reasons for the need of including it in the diet; but in addition, meat is a rich source of iron and phosphorus, and it contains certain vitamins. Everyone likes the flavor of meat, and this flavor can be used to enhance the appetizing qualities of other food.

There are many ways by which the thrifty housewife, who sees to it that her family is properly fed, uses meat to good advantage in combination with other foods. Here are some suggestions for low-cost dishes which contain meat.

Meat and Macaroni, Italian Style. One pound chuck steak, cut in inch squares, 4 tablespoons lard, 1 pound macaroni or spaghetti, 1 onion, minced, 1 clove garlic, minced, 2 green peppers, minced, 1 can tomato soup with equal amount of water, 1-2 cup chili sauce, Parmesan cheese.

Brown the meat in hot lard and add minced onion, garlic and green pepper. Cook until meat is nicely browned, then add the tomato soup, water and chili sauce, and let simmer for one hour. Boil macaroni in salted water, drain and arrange on the platter; pour the sauce over it; sprinkle with cheese and garnish with parsley.

Veal Steak and Rice. Veal steak, cut 3-4 inch thick, 2 tablespoons lard, 1-2 cup rice, 1 medium-sized Spanish onion, 2 green peppers, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 large or 2 medium-sized tomatoes. Salt and pepper.

Brown veal steak on both sides in a little hot lard, then place it in the bottom of a casserole. Add onion, Wash the rice and spread over the meat. Add salt. Cut tomato into four thick slices and place on the rice. Sprinkle with sugar. Then put a thick onion slice and one-half cup diced celery, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1-3 cup lard, 2 cups chow mein noodles, 2 cups water or meat stock, 1-2 cup diced onion, 2 cups canned bean sprouts, 2 tablespoons soy sauce.

Brown the meat for five minutes in hot lard. Add water or stock. Cover. Simmer until the meat is done. Add celery and onion. Simmer 10 minutes. Moisten cornstarch in a little water. Add to first mixture. Add bean sprouts and soy sauce. Season to taste. Heat thoroughly. Serve over noodles.

Chow Mein. One pound pork or veal, diced, 2 cups diced celery, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1-3 cup lard, 2 cups chow mein noodles, 2 cups water or meat stock, 1-2 cup diced onion, 2 cups canned bean sprouts, 2 tablespoons soy sauce.

JUBILEE CELEBRATED BY GEORGIA EDITORS

Elucious" appropriation of $115,000 for the protection for the health of the people, which was only 3 cents per capita.

Mr. Maddox asked the editors to use their influence in impressing the people of Georgia, and especially the members of the next legislature, to more fully appreciate the economic value of the preservation of the good health of the people.

"Georgia makes a smaller appropriation per capita for public health work than any state in this section of the country," Mr. Maddox said. He reviewed the history of the State Health Department and outlined the great work it had done since it was organized in 1875. He outlined the many activities of the board in the interest of promoting health in Georgia.

Room of Founding.

Meeting in the same room in the old state capitol here, where the organization was formed 50 years ago, fitting exercises today marked the golden jubilee celebration.

The five men who were present at the organization meeting and who were present today and spoke, included P. T. McCutchen, of Franklin, News and Banner, who is still operating the same paper he edited 50 years ago; R. B. Moore, publisher of the Milledgeville Union-Recorder, the oldest weekly newspaper in Georgia, and the only editor in the state who was born in the service and who has continued in it ever since.

His father owned the old Milledgeville Recorder, founded in 1819, and he succeeded his father. He was the first vice president of the association and his son, Jere, associated in business with him, is now vice president of the association. Clem Moore, ordinary of Tallapoosa county, and present 50 years ago, spoke briefly today. Judge Douglas W. Moore, former judge advocate of Tennessee and now of Franklin, Tenn., in reviewing the 50 years history of the association which he helped to organize, spoke of the great progress that had been made during the half century. He said he knew personally Alexander Stephens and Rob Toombs and quoted Toombs as telling him once that "all liberty is bought with the blood of the brave." He said the safety and welfare of the people lies in an "untrammeled press, in an ethical bar and a potent ministry."

"When Peace Is Threatened."

"When any one or all of these fail, then the peace of the people is threatened," Judge W. Moore said. He was an editor at the Atlanta Constitution.

Major Guinn, the youngest of the organization group and still active and virile, in giving the main address of the golden jubilee celebration, reviewed the history of the organization, and of the primitive life endured 50 years ago, with none of the modern inventions such as radio, practical telephone and airplanes, and predicted that, while the world had made more progress in the last 50 years than it had in the previous 5,000 years, the next generation would see even greater developments and inventions than the present are enjoying.

Major Guinn said that Henry W. Grady, of The Atlanta Constitution, was not only matchless as an editor, but that he was the master political strategist of his time. He then recounted how, back in the '80s, C. B. Bacon was running for the United States senate and apparently had it sewed up when Mr. Grady was instrumental in placing General John B. Gordon in the race, who acted as a "stop Bacon" candidate and swept the field on election day. He said the part Grady and The Atlanta Constitution played in that campaign was the greatest piece of political strategy ever enacted in Georgia politics.

"Too Much Selfishness."

Comparing conditions 50 years ago with today, Major Guinn said he noted that the dominating motive today is too much toward "selfishness and greed" and said too much emphasis is being impressed upon students in colleges and schools on equipping our young men and women to earn money rather than to contribute by service to a more useful and unselfish type of citizenship.

"Profit and gain, have been piled up on profit and gain, over and over, until we have in this country of ours a condition which I might say is perfect for the germination of the seeds of revolution."

Major Guinn then quoted some figures on the entire Georgia campaign, the largest paid, in comparison with the low annual income of the average wage earner and family, and said that the press Guinn said the first act of every dictatorship had been set up in the world in recent years even, was to shut off entirely or stifle the

Georgia Press Association Pays Honor to Officers and Oldest Members in Convention at Milledgeville

The Georgia Press Association paid high honor to its veteran secretary, Hal M. Stanley, when he was presented a beautiful silver service, shown in the above picture. From left to right are W. G. Sullivan, of Savannah; Miss Florence McCutchen, of Franklin; Miss Eugenia Paxton, of Abbeville; Mr. Stanley and Miss Blanche Jones, of Canton. Staff photo by Turner Hiers.

This led him to say of the local press:

No Dictators for Georgia.

"The people of Georgia are more than 99 per cent American born. Their ancestors came to this country to escape the dictatorship of emperors and kings. Such a thing as a dictatorship in Georgia is repugnant to our people. Although broken to their knees and reduced to abject poverty by four years of war in the sixties, our people even then would not submit to a military dictatorship during the dark days of reconstruction. A man, or a coterie of men, must indeed be totally blind to the lessons of history, or else totally carried away with a mania of egotism, if they imagine that the people of Georgia are going to surrender the control of their government to a single individual. They inherited from their forefathers a government of law and constitution. They have solemnly resolved to preserve that inheritance for the benefit, the protection and the happiness of their sons and daughters."

A special speaker at the jubilee exercises was Blanche Jones, of the North Georgia Tribune at Canton, and granddaughter of the late Ben F. Perry, one of the organizers of the association. Miss Jones said that the newspaper blood had so penetrated her family that three members of it were named for editors, her mother for Editor, her aunt for Editor, her late J. H. Estill, of Savannah, and an uncle after Clark Howell.

Mr. Howell spoke briefly after the editors present who have been as long as 50 years in the business. They included Mr. Howell, Trox Bankston, of Covington, and Ed A. Caldwell, of Monroe; P. T. McCutchen, of Franklin; Lee W. Moore, of Statesboro; Judge E. L. Rainey, of Dawson; R. B. Moore, of Milledgeville; W. A. Shackelford, of Lexington; J. E. Thompson, of Carrollton; D. B. Turner, of Statesboro. The absent member was C. B. Chapman, of Sanderville. Another 50-year editor was J. C. Williams, of Greensboro, who died recently.

Recalls Campaign.

Mr. Howell in his talk in commenting upon the Bacon-Gordon campaign back in the '80s agreed with the statement of Major Guinn that it was one of the greatest political campaigns ever waged in Georgia and stated that "covering" the eight joint debates held in the state by Bacon and Gordon was one of his first assignments from Grady, the first debate being held at Greensboro.

Mr. Howell lauded the Georgia weekly press as being the most potent factor in the state today, saying the heart beats of the people of Georgia are expressed through the weekly press. He said he advised that if a family could take but one paper, that he should subscribe to his local publication. He said he was prevented from attending the organization meeting 50 years ago, but that The Constitution published an editorial commending the move.

Suggested by Irwin.

It was brought out at the exercises here today that Mark D. Irwin, of Lawrenceville, who died last October, was the man who suggested the organization of the Weekly Press Association and arranged the first meeting held here just 50 years ago. He was the first president. He died last October.

A surprise today that showed men can keep a secret as well as women, was sprung when W. G. Sullivan, for the Georgia Press Association, presented Hal Stanley with a handsome silver table service.

The delegates were entertained at noon at a barbecue by the Georgia Military College, Colonel Jenkins, president, was host. That was followed by a round-table session on "Legislation," led by Rush Burton, of Lenoir. Jere Moore and Marvin Griffin, of Bainbridge, were among the speakers.

Tax Limit Discussed.

In a discussion of the proposed 15-mill tax limit to be voted on in November, W. T. Anderson, of Macon, spoke in favor of the proposal, declaring that it is necessary that real estate be given some relief from taxation. Rush Burton opposed the amendment and said the advocates of the measure had not and would not say where the money is to come from to take place of the reduced income. If the bill is ratified, he said levies over and above 15 mills could still be made to pay the present bonded indebtedness of $80,000,000 owed by the various subdivisions in the state and interest on those bonds and that new bond issues could also be voted and levies over the proposed limit made to repay them.

A picnic supper was served at the country club, after which the night session was held, at which Mr. Maddox was the principal speaker.

Tomorrow morning the memorial service will be held followed by the awarding of trophies and an address on advertising by E. E. Dallas, of Atlanta, after which a fish fry will be served and the delegates will depart for Savannah for the remainder of the session and the week-end.

First Health Board.

Mr. Maddox, in his speech tonight,

"The first board of health of Georgia was established by the legislature in 1875.

"During that year," he continued, "one of the most serious epidemics ever experienced was the spread of yellow fever in Savannah, Augusta, Macon and Brunswick. More than 8,000 refugees left Savannah, and the loss of life was estimated at $500,000. Savannah also spent $120,000 for charity during the epidemic. There were more than 800 deaths during this epidemic. An glad to say that through the discovery of the transmission of this germ by the mosquito, this disease now is practically unknown, and we have not had a death in Georgia from yellow fever since 1905.

"It is sad to relate that notwithstanding this epidemic, for some reason or other, the legislature failed to enact an appropriation for the state board of health for several years, and it was not until 1903 that the legislature again made an appropriation for health work. The small sum of $3,000; but the importance of this work was soon demonstrated, and since that time the legislature has regularly appropriated money for its operation. I believe I can truthfully say that for the last 30 years no appropriation has been made by the legislature of Georgia which has brought better returns to the people and given them more dollar value for each dollar expended than the appropriation made for the protection of the health of the citizens of our state."

Lower Death Rate.

"It is no exaggeration to say that more has been accomplished in the reduction of the death rate throughout the state in the last 50 years than occurred in the previous 5,000 years. This has been primarily due to the researches in medical science and in particular to the great outstanding discoveries of the bacterial origin of certain diseases and the widespread application of preventive medicine. What is true of diphtheria, that diphtheria will soon follow the path of cholera, yellow fever, typhoid fever, and other diseases of infectious origin, as it is rapidly diminishing in volume. What is true of diphtheria may also be true in the next few decades of measles, whooping cough, and scarlet fever, and it is possible to look forward to the time when children will reach adolescence free from many of the diseases which are now and have been during the past a great menace to their development."

Value of Human Life.

"We are accustomed to appreciate the great value of our national wealth as evidenced by material property, real estate, machinery, and manufactured products, etc., and yet human life exceeds in value all such wealth by a very large majority. When human resources are as carefully guarded as our material wealth, we will be on the verge of real prosperity."

"Georgia spends out of the state

Press Convention Sidelights

BY STILES A. MARTIN.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., June 11.—Milledgeville has on its list of big and tuckers and is entertaining the editors royally. Several hundred Milledgeville citizens attended the opening banquet, and the delegates, many of them private homes and with friends, while others are housed in the dormitories of the two colleges, were given a high level of service.

When the 600 guests gathered in Atkinson Hall last night for supper and the tables were bare of food, many wondered when and if they would be served. It was no problem at all for the college personnel, one dusky waiter saying: "You ain't no crowd at all. We feed 900 girls in here three times a day." He was right, soon the several course dinner got underway, no detail being missed, there being a sprig of mint in each tea tray and a second helping of everything.

An interesting feature of the banquet was a floor show put on by a publicity clerk, who called the attention of the delegates to the fact that the specialty and some of them were probably headed for Major Bowes' program. Some of the costumes were aprons, being made of material with names of papers printed all over it.

Jere Moore told the joke that is going the rounds about the Queen Mary and the fish. It brought more gasps and laughs.

Crop and weather reports, from Milledgeville Lithonia heavy rains, have fallen, indicating there has been some praying maybe and also that the preachers have been paid. Condition of crops is one of the most important subjects here. South Georgia reporting rain and North Georgia dry.

Very few candidates are in attendance at the press convention. The sessions have been absolutely free of any tinge of politics, state or national, the program makes looking after that feature this year. All politics is discussed privately, if any.

An interesting visitor at the convention is Judge Berry T. Moseley, treasury last year $25,000,000 for roads and schools, and made the ridiculous appropriation of $115,000 for the protection of the health of our people. While I am in full sympathy with the expenditure of money for roads and schools, I am sure the small appropriation of $115,000 for the health of our people to get the full benefit of good roads and schools, is when considered in any light, a ridiculously small appropriation, and from the appropriation for this important work made by the legislators, it might be said that all the feeble-minded are not confined in an institution in Milledgeville, but I am inclined to believe that their action has been due more to lack of information and appreciation of the importance of public health work than to feeble-mindedness.

"Georgia makes a smaller appropriation per capita for public health work than any state in this section of the country, and I want to appeal to you gentlemen who represent the press of our state to use the influence of your news columns and editorial columns in impressing upon our people, and especially the members who will serve in our next legislature, to more fully appreciate the economic value of the preservation of the good health of our people."

Barber Faces Trial in Rattle-snake Slaying of Fifth Wife.

Prime Minister Baldwin Asks for No Further Punishment for Duo.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 11.—

(P)—Robert S. James, red-haired Los Angeles barber accused of the "rattle-snake" slaying of his fifth wife, threatened to kill his sister, Mrs. Lotie B. Smith, during an argument over his attention to her comely daughter, Lois Wright, the sister told California authorities and lawyers today.

James, who faces trial at Los Angeles June 22 on the murder charge, was given three to 150 sentences on a morals charge involving Miss Wright, who accompanied him from Birmingham to the California city.

The girl's mother told her story under questioning by district assistant of the prosecution, and William J. Clark, of defense counsel.

Her deposition will be offered as evidence in James' trial.

Mrs. Smith said the barber, whose real name is Major Lisenba, "cursed me and said he would blow me into hell" during the argument.

She also gave details of the insanity warrant, sworn out against her by James here in July, 1933. A copy of court papers freeing her of the insanity charge was attached to her deposition.

Grete Tate, assistant solicitor here, will go to Los Angeles for the trial to aid the prosecution. He was retained by California authorities to gather evidence in Birmingham.

HANDWRITING PROOF

COSTS NEGRO $27 FINE

Talents as a handwriting expert, revealed by Alderman I. Gloor Hailer, of the ninth ward, cost a negro lottery writer a $27 fine in recorder's court yesterday.

Alma Hailer was pinch-hitting on the bench for Recorder John L. Cone when John Ware, negro operator of a pressing club, was arraigned. When the defendant denied knowledge of "bug" tickets allegedly found in his establishment, Alderman Hailer ordered him to write his name and several figures on a sheet of paper.

The "bug" tickets compared the figures with those on the ticket stubs and discovered a similarity in the writing that led to the fine.

RECORD TOBACCO CROP EXPECTED IN GEORGIA

Association President Based Prediction Upon Survey of Territory.

PELHAM, Ga., June 11.—(P)—J. D. Rogers, director of the Georgia Tobacco Association, said today there is now a prospect for one of the best tobacco crops ever produced in Georgia.

Favorable weather conditions, practically limited to the tobacco area for the past several weeks, have aided in growing what now appears to be a fine crop with prospects of extra good quality, he said.

While the crop is not early, he said, curing of tobacco will, under favorable conditions, be general in about two weeks.

Rogers said the long dry spell has cut both the acreage and tonnage of tobacco throughout North and South Carolina as he returned yesterday from a trip through those states.

Bad Stands Noted.

The drought extended over practically the entire tobacco producing sections, he said, and consequently bad stands are in evidence everywhere. Transplanting is still going on in the new fields, he said.

Rogers said it is impossible to estimate the damage to crops in the middle and old belts of North Carolina as their planting season is not over. While the dry weather has affected the plants in the beds, it is possible that a fair crop may be planted with a continuing shower.

Rain has fallen over the greater part of the tobacco growing areas during the past few days. It is regarded likely that much improvement in general crop conditions will take place.

Rogers said tobacco, under good growing conditions, can show remarkable improvement within a short time, and there is always a possibility of underestimating poundage.

For that reason, he said, there is even yet a chance that the production of bright flue-cured tobacco may reach a total of 700,000,000 pounds.

Landon Is Accorded Giant Demonstration

paigns the republican party has seen one of the most aggressive campaigns in years and lead the party to victory in November.

And as he appeared before the widely cheering throng that surged about the executive mansion, he said:

"For the sentiments you manifest by four gathering here tonight, I thank you and I thank you for the honor of your presence. We shall always cherish the memory of this happy evening together."

"Thousands of Kansans, converging on Topeka from near-by towns, joined in a great demonstration at the state capitol building down the eight blocks to the executive mansion. Six uniformed bands, playing "Oh, Susanna," led the parade. For a moment, headed the parade campaign song, marched a band of small boys, thumping on pans and shouting the song.

Governor Landon's remarks in full:

"Mrs. Landon and I are deeply touched by this expression of your good will and good wishes. I am proud, too, that so many of our friends from surrounding towns have come to join in this important demonstration. And, at this moment, our thoughts turn to the friends and neighbors in Independence (Kansas).

"The courage and spirit of the people of Kansas has been a constant inspiration to me during my term as governor. Their loyalty and confidence have sustained me during these trying years, as they will continue to sustain me in the future."

"Nothing is more worth while than the regard of one's neighbors. Nothing truer more strongly at one's hour. I am sure that the friends of Kansas, who are gathered here tonight, Mrs. Landon and I thank you from the bottom of our hearts. We shall always cherish the memory of this happy evening together."

TECH STUDENT HELD

AFTER TAMPA AFFRAY

TAMPA, Fla., June 11.—(P)—Police held a youth booked as Orlando E. Rodriguez on a charge of assault with a knife after City Detective L. H. Henley was wounded in the arm.

Henley said he arrested Rodriguez without difficulty, but the Cuban lad drew a revolver from his belt and started shooting.

The detective and Rodriguez are retained an automobile and the owner asked police to recover it.

Police said Rodriguez told them he was a political refugee from Cuba and had been a student at Georgia Tech in Atlanta.

Co-operative Student.

Rodriguez entered Georgia Tech as a co-operative student. He is about 21 years old and came from Camaguey, Cuba, where his late father was a sugar plantation owner.

FEDERAL FUNDS ASKED

BY STATE OYSTER MEN

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 11.—(P)—Facing declining business, Georgia oyster growers decided today to appeal for federal aid in replenishing the oyster beds on the coast.

L. A. Miller, of Brunswick, estimated the present season's business at about one-third of the 1934-35 season.

Miss Gay B. Shagerson, state

WPA administrator, was asked to resolution to secure a project by which the state's oyster beds could be replenished.

INVESTIGATION LOOMS IN RUBBER UNION ROW

Judge Feidelson of National Labor Board Makes Investigation.

GADSDEN, Ala., June 11.—(AP)—Court circles weighed today the possibility of a grand jury investigation of a beating leaders of the Rubber Workers International Union reported they received after an organization meeting with workers of the local Goodyear plant.

George Googe, southern representative of the American Federation of Labor, said a senatorial inquiry will be sought into alleged "espionage in the Goodyear plant."

A charge was issued by Googe that S. H. Dalrymple, president of the international union, was assaulted by "company thugs" while "in company of Sheriff R. A. Leach," and that the sheriff "refused to protect Dalrymple." Googe said the sheriff ordered Dalrymple to leave town.

Feidelson Investigates. Charles N. Feidelson, regional head of the National Labor Relations Board, a representative of the American Federation of Labor, and Louis Bowen and Carl Parkhurst, representing Governor Graves, were here investigating the labor trouble.

After a talk with Feidelson, Sheriff Leach said: "I told him as a citizen and a taxpayer, and not as sheriff, that 97 per cent of the workers of the three big plants here, Goodyear, Gulf States Steel and Dwight Manufacturing Company, are satisfied with the treatment from the companies and don't want any trouble."

"I told Mr. Feidelson that he should not go around with the labor men and investigate, but should sit as a judge to hear both sides."

Sheriff Speaks as Citizen. "As a citizen, I told him we did not want any kind of interference," the sheriff said. He was held by a group of men while Dalrymple was beaten "in a fight." He stated his glasses were broken in the scuffle and that he could not identify those engaged in the "fight."

Googe charged that union leaders had been "attacked on their jobs in the Goodyear plant by company squads" in the presence of foremen, brutally assaulted and literally kicked out of the building.

Secretary of Labor Perkins, he said, had notified him she was sending a representative here.

Annual Kiddie Revue Starts Run Of Week at Loew's Grand Today

A blast of trumpets and a roll of drums at 12:35 o'clock today will signal the opening of Atlanta's eighth annual Kiddie Revue at Loew's Grand theater.

Four times each day—for the next week—125 of the city's best youthful entertainers will swing from the wings of the theater's stage and occupy the spotlight as their contribution to the milk fund of the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children.

The youngsters range in age from tots of two to budding stars in their early teens. Every minute of the 30-act amateur performance is crammed with the kind of entertainment which has stamped this annual affair as one of the south's outstanding amateur performances.

More Ambitious Show. The 1936 edition, produced under the supervision of Eddie Melniker, manager of the Grand, is probably even more ambitious in its scope than any of the seven Kiddie Revues which preceded it. Six ensemble numbers, including the grand finale, "Minstrel Land," present the youngsters in tap and ballet routines on which they have labored for months. Five of Atlanta's schools of dancing have been actively in charge of the long period of training. Those whose pupils will appear in the production include Jack Rand, Lottie Henschel, Virginia Semon, Louise Smith and Pierre Dale.

The specialty numbers are on a par with the high standard set in the years when Dixie Dunbar, Jane Withers, Nicky Zachary and Billy Clower were Kiddie Revue luminaries. There's a three-year-old Jimmy Leake, who gives his interpretation of Ted Lewis singing "When My Baby Smiles At Me."

June Walton, star in previous productions, comes from new home in Greenville to team with Beverly Robinson in a saxophone and dance number. "Beautiful Lady in Blue" presents Cynthia Williams, Patricia Shackelford and Leonard Knighton in an acrobatic dance with harp and vocal accompaniment.

Thirty Acts. There's more, of course—much more: 30 acts, to be precise—which the Atlanta Masonic Club, sponsors of the show, say will give the public the most enjoyable means of helping a worthy cause.

The complete program follows: Overture, "Bits of Hits" from "The Great Ziegfeld," Perry Bechtel's orchestra. The Military Band, with Rose Lewis, Rodman Woodberry, Betty Burns, Ferguson, Emma Thompson, Charles Hopkins, Fred Bourn, Albert Bourn, Bob Smith, Louise Cheek, Cynthia Williams, At the Cotton Ball, by Barbara Paine. In the Chain Gang, Betty Little and Janet Rogers.

Borah Favors Pension Of $60 for All Past 60. CLEVELAND, June 11.—(AP)—Senator Borah said today he favored a $60-a-month pension for people over 60 years of age.

He made the statement to newsmen in discussing republican platform plans.

Although he had taken no part in discussions of the social security plan, he had favored a pension calling for an old age pension.

"I am in favor of old age pensions of $60 per month for people over 60 years of age," Borah said, "and I expressed that view in conversations with some of the subcommittee members. I did not, however, submit a plank on that question."

Borah explained that he had set $60 as the figure because "that would take care of the old people, and it is about the amount the economic condition of the country would permit."

FINLAND WILL MEET WAR DEBT OBLIGATION. WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—Finland notified the United States today it would meet its regular semi-annual war debt installment of $164,315.50 on June 15.

The little Baltic republic is the only war debtor nation that has not defaulted on obligations to this country.

Finland's notification was contained in a note sent to Secretary Hull by Dr. Sigurd Von Numers of the Finnish legation here.

Finland's war debt is among the smallest of the European countries with the United States.

SUPPORTER OF LONDON TELLS STORY OF DRIVE

Stauffer Relates How He, Aids Started Governor on Campaign.

CLEVELAND, June 11.—(AP)—Four weary but happy men tonight acknowledged the climax of a small dinner early last October when they formally launched the drive to name Governor Alf M. Landon, of Kansas, republican nominee for president.

These four men, two of them schoolmates of Governor Landon, were Oscar Stauffer, of Arkansas City, Roy Roberts and Lacy Haynes, of Kansas City, and Fred Brinkerhoff, of Pittsburgh, Kans.

Joining them in tonight's jubilation were others who stepped in as the drive gained momentum—John Hamilton, of Topeka; William Allen White, of Emporia; Fred Harris, of Ottawa; John P. Harris, of Hutchinson; Lester McCoy, of Garden City, and Henry J. Allen, of Topeka.

This group—including eight newspapermen—formed the nucleus of the Landon-for-president drive which in ensuing months swept the country.

Stauffer, publisher of eight Kansas newspapers and chairman of the "Landon-for-president committee," recalled the opening of the Landon campaign.

"Roy Roberts, managing editor of the Kansas City Star, Alf and I were all at Kansas University together, you know," Stauffer began, "however, we belonged to different fraternities. But we had been old friends and Roy and I had been supporters of the governor."

"The governor had been mentioned as a presidential possibility as early as the time of his election to a second term. One day last fall I ran into Roy."

"Roy," I said, "when are we going to do something about getting Alf nominated for president?"

Alf joined for dinner. "Mr. Roberts said he thought it was about time. So about the first of October, he, Lacy Haynes, the Kansas editor of the Star, Fred Brinkerhoff, editor of the Pittsburgh Headlight and Sun, and I got Alf to join us for dinner."

"We wanted to talk politics. But Alf wouldn't. He talked about football for an hour and a half, complaining because Kansas University had just lost a game to a small college—St. Benedict at Atchison."

"Alf wouldn't take us seriously. Of course he said if the people of the country should decide they wanted him for president he would be honored, and he would do his best. But he wanted to talk football."

"Finally, the boys told me to begin looking around to see what the people thought. I took two rooms in a Kansas City hotel and went to work."

Group Enlarged. The group was enlarged quickly. William Allen White, editor of the Emporia, Kan., Gazette and long a well-known figure in state and national politics, joined the Landon movement. Fred Harris, Ottawa lawyer, and his nephew, John F. Harris, editor of the Hutchinson News and Herald, were quick to move to support of their governor. Lester McCoy, farmer and automobile dealer, was another giving time and money.

"Not one of us," Stauffer said, "has taken money for what we have done. We financed the early part of the campaign ourselves. To us, this has been a crusade."

Accepted in March. Hamilton, the Landon manager, accepted that post in March of this year. The republican national committeeman from Kansas and general counsel to the national committee, Hamilton has been active in Kansas politics for 20 years. With a ready smile and great energy, Hamilton flew over the country in endless trips, gathering delegates for Landon.

Stauffer, Roberts, Brinkerhoff and White are natives of Kansas. Haynes is a native of Kentucky, but has lived in Kansas for more than a quarter of a century. Stauffer formerly worked on the Kansas City Star with Roberts and Haynes.

For 14 years Roberts was Washington correspondent for the Star, and upon him, Hamilton and White the original group has leaned heavily for guidance in the realms of national politics.

2D APPEAL IS FILED ON CHAIN STORE LEVY. WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—A second appeal asking for a review of the disputed Florida chain store tax law was filed today in the supreme court.

In the new case, State Comptroller J. M. Lee joins C. H. Simpson, of Jacksonville. Duval county, tax collector, in seeking final determination of the legal battle over the 1935 Florida law grading retail store taxes according to the number of units in each chain.

LABOR BOARD ORDERS DISSOLUTION OF 'CLUB'

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—The National Labor Relations Board ordered the Atlanta Woolen Mills today to dissolve the "Good-Will Club," an organization of employees.

The action was taken upon petition of the Textile Union, which contended at a hearing April 9 that the club was an outlawed "company union."

Previously the board had ordered the posting of a notice in the mill that there was no closed shop agreement with the Good-Will Club.

The board held the organization's success in enlisting membership among employees was the result of "affirmative acts" on the part of the company.

SUSPENDED MINISTERS ORGANIZE NEW CHURCH. PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—(AP)—Suspended ministers of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. and their followers formed a new church organization today, naming it the Presbyterian Church of America.

The assembly of 175, including 45 ministers, declared itself the general assembly of the new church.

At the morning session delegates to the Presbyterian Constitutional Convention approved the executive committee report recommending the abolition of the union and the formation of a new church organization, which its leaders said will continue the "true spiritual succession of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A."

"This I am noting in my Diary and I give full credit to S.S.S. for causing me to feel like myself again."

So we suggest—Don't try to get well in a day... this is asking too much of Nature. Remember, she has certain natural processes that just cannot be hurried.

Here Is Complete Text of the Republican Platform

CLEVELAND, June 11.—(AP)—The text of the republican platform follows:

PLATFORM OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, 1936.

America is in peril. The welfare of American men and women and the future of our youth are at stake. We dedicate ourselves to the preservation of their political liberty, their individual opportunity and their character as free citizens, which today for the first time are threatened by government itself.

For three long years the New Deal administration has dishonored American traditions and flagrantly betrayed the pledges upon which the democratic party sought and received public support.

The powers of congress have been usurped by the President. The integrity and authority of the supreme court have been flouted.

The rights and liberties of American citizens have been violated. Regulated monopoly has displaced free enterprise.

The New Deal administration constantly seeks to usurp the rights reserved to the states and to the people.

It has insisted on the passage of laws contrary to the constitution.

It has intimidated witnesses and interfered with the right of petition.

It has dishonored our country by repudiating its most sacred obligations.

It has been guilty of frightful waste and extravagance, using public funds for partisan political purposes.

It has promoted investigations to harass and intimidate American citizens, at the same time denying investigations into its own improper expenditures.

It has created a vast multitude of new offices, filled them with its favorites, set up a centralized bureaucracy and sent out swarms of inspectors to harass our people.

It has bred fear and hesitation in commerce and industry, thus discouraging new enterprises, preventing employment and prolonging the depression.

It secretly has made tariff agreements with our foreign competitors, flooding our markets with foreign commodities.

It has coerced and intimidated voters by withholding relief to those opposing its tyrannical policies.

It has destroyed the morale of many of our people and made them dependent upon government.

Appeals to passion and class prejudice have replaced reason and tolerance.

To a free people, these actions are insufferable. This campaign cannot be waged on the traditional differences between the republican and democratic parties. The responsibility of this election transcends all previous political divisions. We invite all Americans, irrespective of party, to join us in defense of American institutions.

CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT AND FREE ENTERPRISE.

We pledge ourselves:

1. To maintain the American system of constitutional and local self-government, and to resist all attempts to impair the authority of the supreme court of the United States, the final protector of the rights of our citizens against the arbitrary encroachments of the legislative and executive branches of government. There can be no individual liberty without an independent judiciary.

2. To preserve the American system of free enterprise, private competition, and equality of opportunity, and to seek its constant betterment in the interests of all.

RE-EMPLOYMENT.

The only permanent solution of the unemployment problem is the absorption of the unemployed by industry and agriculture. To that end, we advocate:

Removal of restrictions on production.

Abandonment of all New Deal policies that raise production costs, increase the cost of living, and thereby restrict buying, reduce volume and prevent re-employment.

Encouragement instead of hindrance to legitimate business.

Withdrawal of government from competition with private pay rolls.

Adoption of such other policies as will furnish a chance for individual enterprise, industrial expansion and the restoration of jobs.

RELIEF.

The necessities of life must be provided for the needy, and hope must be restored pending recovery. The administration of relief is the major failure of the New Deal. It has been faithless to those who most deserve our sympathy. To end confusion, partisanship, waste and incompetence, we pledge:

1. The return of responsibility for relief administration to non-political local agencies familiar with community problems.

2. Federal grants-in-aid to the states and territories while the need exists, upon compliance with these conditions: (a) A fair proportion of the total relief burden to be provided from the revenues of states and local governments; (b) all engaged in relief administration to be selected on the basis of merit and fitness; (c) adequate provision to be made for the encouragement of those persons who are trying to become self-supporting.

3. Undertaking of federal public works only on their merits and separate from the administration of relief.

4. A prompt determination of the facts concerning relief and unemployment.

SECURITY.

Real security will be possible only when our productive capacity is sufficient to furnish a decent standard of living for all American families and to provide a surplus for future needs and contingencies.

For the attainment of that ultimate objective, we look to the energy, self-reliance and character of our people, and to our system of free enterprise.

Society has an obligation to promote the security of the people, by affording some measure of protection against involuntary unemployment and dependency in old age. The New Deal policies, while purporting to provide social security, have, in fact, endangered it.

We propose a system of old-age security, based upon the following principles:

1. We approve a pay-as-you-go policy, which requires of each generation the support of the aged and the determination of what is just and adequate.

2. Every American citizen over 65 should receive the supplementary payment necessary to provide a minimum income sufficient to protect him or her from want.

3. Each state and territory, upon complying with simple and general minimum standards, should receive from the federal government a graduated contribution in proportion to its own, up to a fixed maximum.

4. To make this program consistent with sound fiscal policy the federal revenues for this purpose must be provided from the proceeds of a direct tax widely distributed. All will be benefited and should contribute.

We propose to encourage adoption by the states and territories of honest and practical measures, for meeting the problems of unemployment insurance.

The unemployment insurance and old-age annuity sections of the present social security act are unworkable and deny benefits to about two-thirds of our adult population, including professional men and women and all those engaged in agriculture and domestic service, and the self-employed while imposing heavy tax burdens upon all.

The so-called reserve fund estimated at $47,000,000,000 for old-age insurance is no reserve at all, because the fund will contain nothing but the government's promise to pay, while the taxes collected in the guise of premiums will be wasted by the government in reckless and extravagant political schemes.

LABOR.

The welfare of labor rests upon increased production and the prevention of exploitation. We pledge ourselves to:

Protect the right of labor to organize and to bargain collectively through representatives of its own choosing without interference from any source.

Prevent governmental job-holders from exercising autocratic powers over labor.

Support the adoption of state laws and interstate compacts to abolish sweatshops and child labor, and to protect women and children with respect to maximum hours, minimum wages and working conditions. We believe that this can be done within the constitution as it now stands.

AGRICULTURE.

The farm problem is an economic and social, not a partisan problem, and we propose to treat it accordingly.

Following the wreck of the restrictive and coercive AAA, the New Deal administration has taken to itself the principles of the republican policy of soil conservation and land retirement. This action opens the way for a non-political and permanent solution. Such a solution cannot be had under a New Deal administration which misuses the program to serve partisan ends, to promote scarcity and to limit by coercive methods the farmer's control over his own farm.

Our paramount object is to protect and foster the family type of farm, traditional in American life, and to promote policies which will bring about an adjustment of agriculture to meet the needs of domestic and foreign markets. As an emergency measure, during the agricultural depression, federal benefit payments or grants-in-aid when administered within the means of the federal government are consistent with a balanced budget.

We propose:

1. To facilitate economical production and increased consumption on a basis of abundance instead of scarcity.

2. National land-use program, including the acquisition of abandoned and non-productive farm lands by voluntary sale or lease, subject to approval of the legislative and executive branches of the states concerned, and the devotion of such land to appropriate public use, such as watershed protection and flood prevention, reforestation, recreation, and conservation of wild life.

3. That an agricultural policy be pursued for the protection and restoration of the land resources, designed to bring about such a balance between soil-building and soil-depleting crops as will permanently insure productivity, with reasonable benefits to co-operating farmers of family-type farms, but so regulated as to eliminate the New Deal's destructive policy towards the dairy and livestock industries.

4. To extend experimental aid to farmers developing new crops suited to our soil and climate.

5. To promote the industrial use of farm products by applied science.

6. To protect the American farmer against the importation of all livestock, dairy and agricultural products, substitutes therefor, and derivatives therefrom, which will depress American farm prices.

7. To provide effective quarantine against imported livestock, dairy and other farm products from countries which do not impose health and sanitary regulations fully equal to those required of our own producers.

8. To provide for ample farm credit at rates as low as those enjoyed by other industries, insuring commodity and livestock loans, and preference in land loans to the farmer acquiring or refinancing a farm as a home.

9. To provide for decentralized, non-partisan control of the farm credit administration and the election by national farm loan associations of at least one-half of each board of directors of the federal land banks, and thereby remove these institutions from politics.

10. To provide in the case of agricultural products of which there are exportable surpluses, the payment of reasonable benefits upon the domestically consumed portion of such crops in order to make the tariff effective. These payments are to be limited to the production level of the family-type farm.

11. To encourage and further develop co-operative marketing.

12. To furnish government assistance in disposing of surpluses in foreign trade by bargaining for foreign markets selectively by countries both as to exports and imports. We strenuously oppose so-called reciprocal treaties which trade off the American farmer.

13. To give every reasonable assistance to producers in areas suffering from temporary disaster, so that they may regain and maintain a self-supporting status.

TARIFF.

Nearly 60 per cent of all imports into the United States are now free of duty. The other 40 per cent of imports compete directly with the products of our industry. We would keep on the free list all products not grown or produced in the United States in commercial quantities. As to all commodities that commercially compete with our farms, our forests, our fisheries, our oil wells, our labor and our industries, sufficient protection should be maintained at all times to defend the American farmer and the American wage earner from the destructive competition emanating from the subsidies of foreign governments and the imports from low-wage and depreciated currency countries.

We will repeal the present reciprocal trade agreement law. It is futile and dangerous. Its effect on agriculture and industry has been destructive. Its continuation would work to the detriment of the wage earner and the farmer.

We will restore the principle of the flexible tariff in order to meet changing economic condition here and abroad and broaden by careful definition the views of the tariff commission in order to extend this policy along non-partisan lines.

We will adjust tariffs with a view to promoting international trade, the stabilization of currencies, and the attainment of a proper balance between agriculture and industry.

We condemn the secret negotiation of reciprocal trade treaties without public hearing or legislative approval.

MONOPOLIES.

A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. It menaces and, if continued, will utterly destroy constitutional government and the liberty of the citizen.

We favor the vigorous enforcement of the criminal laws, as well as the civil laws, against monopolies and trusts and their officials, and we demand the enactment of such additional legislation as is necessary to make it impossible for the private monopoly to exist in the United States.

We will employ the full powers of the government to the end that monopoly shall be eliminated and that free enterprise shall be fully restored and maintained.

REGULATION OF BUSINESS.

We recognize the existence of a field within which governmental regulation is desirable and salutary. The authority to regulate must be vested in an independent tribunal acting under clear and specific laws establishing definite standards. Their determinations on law and facts should be subject to review by the courts. We favor federal regulation, within the constitution, of the marketing of securities to protect investors. We favor also federal regulation of the interstate activities of public utilities.

CIVIL SERVICE.

Under the New Deal, official authority has been given to inexperienced and incompetent persons. The civil service has been sacrificed to create a national political machine. As a result the federal government has never presented such a picture of confusion and inefficiency.

We pledge ourselves to the merit system, virtually destroyed by New Deal spoilsmen. It should be restored, improved and extended.

We will provide such conditions as offer an attractive permanent career in government service to young men and women of ability, irrespective of party affiliations.

GOVERNMENT FINANCE.

The New Deal administration has been characterized by shameful waste, and general financial irresponsibility. It has piled deficit upon deficit. It threatens national bankruptcy and the destruction through inflation of insurance policies and saving bank deposits.

We pledge ourselves to:

Stop the folly of uncontrolled spending.

Balance the budget—not by increasing taxes but by cutting expenditures, drastically and immediately.

Revise the federal tax system and co-ordinate it with state and local tax systems.

Use the taxing power for raising revenue and not for punitive or political purposes.

MONEY AND BANKING.

We advocate a sound currency to be preserved at all hazards. The first requisite to a sound and stable currency is a balanced budget.

We oppose further devaluation of the dollar.

We will restore to the congress the authority lodged with it by the constitution to coin money and regulate the value thereof by repealing all the laws delegating this authority to the executive.

We will co-operate with other countries toward stabilization of currencies as soon as we can do so with due regard for our national interests and as soon as other nations have sufficient stability to justify such action.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

We pledge ourselves to promote and maintain peace by all honorable means not leading to foreign alliances or political commitments.

Obedient to the traditional foreign policy of America and to the repeatedly expressed will of the American people, we pledge that America shall not become a member of the League of Nations nor of the world court nor shall America take on any entangling alliances in foreign affairs.

We shall promote, as the best means of securing and maintaining peace by the pacific settlement of disputes, the great cause of international arbitration through the establishment of free, independent tribunals, which shall determine such disputes in accordance with law, equity and justice.

NATIONAL DEFENSE.

We favor an army and navy, including air forces, adequate for our national defense.

We shall co-operate with other nations in the limitation of armaments and control of traffic in arms.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

We pledge ourselves to preserve, protect and defend, against all intimidation and threat, freedom of religion, speech, press and radio; and the right of assembly and petition and immunity from unreasonable searches and seizures.

We offer the abiding security of a government of laws as against the autocratic perils of a government of men.

FURTHERMORE.

1. We favor the construction of the federal government of headwater storage basins to prevent floods, subject to the approval of the legislative and executive branches of the government of the states whose lands are concerned.

2. We favor equal opportunity for our colored citizens. We pledge our protection of their economic status and personal safety. We will do our best to further their employment in the gainfully occupied life of America, particularly in private industry, agriculture, emergency agencies and the civil service.

We condemn the present New Deal policies which would regiment and ultimately eliminate the colored citizen from the country's productive life, and make him solely a ward of the federal government.

3. To our Indian population we pledge every effort on the part of the national government to ameliorate living conditions for them.

We pledge continuation of the republican policy of adequate compensation and care for the veterans disabled in the service of our country and for their widows, orphans and dependents.

5. We shall use every effort to collect the war debt due us from foreign countries amounting to $12,000,000,000—one-third of our national debt. No effort has been made by the present administration even to reopen negotiations.

6. We are opposed to legislation which discriminates against women in federal and state employment.

CONCLUSION.

We assume the obligations and duties imposed upon government by modern conditions. We affirm our unalterable conviction that, in the future as in the past, the fate of the nation will depend, not so much on the wisdom and power of government, as on the character and virtue, self-reliance, industry and thrift of the people and on their willingness to meet the responsibilities essential to the preservation of free society.

Finally, as our party affirmed in its first platform in 1856: "Believing that the spirit of our institutions as well as the constitution of our country guarantees liberty of conscience and equality of rights among our citizens we oppose all legislation tending to impair them," and "we invite the affiliation and co-operation of the men of all parties, however differing from us in other respects, in support of the principles herein declared."

The acceptance of the nomination tendered by this convention carries with it, as a matter of private honor and public faith, an undertaking by each candidate to be true to the principles and program herein set forth.

Smith immediately swore out a warrant charging them with the theft of Chandler's car. They are expected to be brought back to Atlanta today.

Harvey and Aubrey Smith, his companion when the two were writing a record of ruthless crime, robberies and holdups in Georgia, were pardoned by Tennessee several months ago and were told:

"Go your way and sin no more."

Seeing Long Texas.

The two, however, were out only a few weeks before they fell afoul of the law again. Harvey and Smith were convicted for the robbery of a Home bank of approximately $10,000. Harvey was serving a sentence of from eight to ten years for that job and Williams had from 10 to 12 years for robbing the Bank of Greenville, Georgia.

Aubrey Smith is now incarcerated at the Milledgeville state prison.

Harvey was placed in the strong death cell at Nashville, while Williams was given regulation quarters.

system, the paralysis of industry, and the impoverishment of agriculture."

It was the second statement from democratic headquarters in 24 hours to emphasize the "four long years" phrase. Yesterday, Postmaster General James A. Farley was quoted: "As much as the opposition would like to have them do so, the American people cannot forget the suffering to which they were subjected in the four long years between 1929 and 1933."

Bankhead described Mr. Hoover as "the gloomy philosopher from Palo Alto risen to new heights as the prophet of despair." He referred to the former president's fear of "collectivism" destroying American liberties as a "new fairy tale," declaring "Mr. Hoover has no difficulty in conjuring up bogey men."

Complete Texts of Addresses By Roosevelt in Tour of Texas

The texts of President Roosevelt's addresses Thursday at the San Jacinto battlefield at Houston, at the Alamo at San Antonio, and upon his visit to Austin, Texas, follow:

San Jacinto

There are but few spots in the United States which have witnessed events equal in significance to that which took place at San Jacinto.

Here a century ago was a great frontier of our civilization. On the twenty-first day of April, 1836, General Houston and the small body of less than 800 men under his command held in large measure in their keeping the future of our country as it constituted today.

The patriots whose memories we are honoring today were victorious in the same spirit that fired the colonists in 1776. I think of the General Houston sending Deaf Smith back to destroy Vince's bridge, over which he had brought his army, so that neither reinforcements nor retreat were a possibility.

Most of these men had come across the Alleghenies or from the settlements of Kentucky and Tennessee and Missouri into the virgin territory over which our new frontier neighbors, south of the Rio Grande, then held sway. The spirit of independence lived in the air. The men of Concord, Lexington, or Saratoga or of Yorktown still lived; the acquisition of the Louisiana territory and the second war for independence were events of recent history; and, be it not forgotten, the people of Mexico themselves had won their independence from Spain but 15 years before.

VENTUROUS SPIRITS
MEET DIFFICULTIES

Venturous spirits were willing to meet the difficulties and dangers that came with carrying the civilization of the east into the further west—the land of unlimited promise. They were willing to comply with all the conditions required by the Mexican government when it gave to Stephen F. Austin permission to settle colonies in Texas and to grant to each settler a tract of land.

They rebelled, however, when their civil liberties were restricted, when trial by jury and public education for their children were taken away; when they did this, I am glad to say, only after a prolonged effort on their part to have Mexico modify this decision had failed. These efforts included two conventions, one in 1832 and one in 1833, and another trip by Stephen Austin to the Mexican capital to plead the cause of the Texas colonists. I am glad that participating in these conventions and in these pleas were Mexicans living in this territory; the first convention, indeed, appointed Rafael Manchola, a Mexican of Goliad, as a delegate to carry its petitions to Saltillo.

And so, when all else failed, the Texas declaration of independence, signed at Washington-on-the-Brazos, March 2, 1836, was as natural and inevitable a consequence as the earlier declaration at Philadelphia on July 4, 1776.

HOUSTON'S SAGACITY REWARDED AT SAN JACINTO

Such action could mean nothing short of a resort to arms, and the fall of the Alamo and the massacre at Goliad soon followed. Those were discouraging days for the Texas. The army of independence under General Houston could not immediately engage General Santa Anna, with his superiority in numbers and equipment. Delay and retreat were necessary, and Houston's sagacity in biding his time, notwithstanding criticism and opposition in his own camp, was rewarded at last here at San Jacinto. The story of the conflict on this field has often been told. When the day was ended victory was overwhelming—Texas had won.

The vast territory first set up as the Lone Star republic, and later admitted to the Union as the Lone Star State, had contributed generously in its sons and in its resources to the development of our nation in these 100 years. San Jacinto opened another gateway for the westward sweep of the American people across the plains and the mountains to the shores of the Pacific.

It is easy, therefore, to share with you the pride which you take in San Jacinto—to share with you the thought of dedicating this field as one of the historic shrines of America.

We as a nation desire no further expansion. The establishment of Texas, made possible at this spot by Sam Houston's men, seems to have been justified by the natural colonization of later years. But these heroes gave us more than territory; they set an example which in itself is a glorious heritage, a just cause for state and national commemoration.

PLEASURE TO MEET ANDREW JACKSON HOUSTON

It is a great personal satisfaction to me to come here and it is a special pleasure to meet Mr. Andrew Jackson Houston.

What a splendid combination of names! Though you are many, many years my senior, I am proud to know that my father knew your father. I shall always remember when I was a boy, how my father used often to tell me that, when he was a very young man, he was sent to Washington by his law office to carry papers to Senator Houston. He told me how, on arriving in Washington, he was ushered into a huge, high-ceilinged room in one of the capital's belconed hotels—Pennyman's avenue. There, propped up in a great bed, nightgown and nightcap, though it was past the noon hour, lay that splendid old man, who had been Governor of Tennessee, lieutenant of Texas, president of the republic, Governor of Texas and Senator from his state. There he was, holding a levee, transacting public and private business, and preparing for the session of the senate, which, in those days, did not commence until the late afternoon. His office and his home was his hotel room.

Men would see that the manners and customs of the senators of the United States, like other manners and customs, have undergone a great change.

CAN TRULY BE CALLED
CRADLE OF TEXAS LIBERTY

This and the eastern part of your great state, through which I came this morning, can truly be called the cradle of Texas liberty. I have been glad to revisit your beautiful city of Houston. Typical of American enterprise, you have brought the commerce of the world to your door by the ship canal through which I have recently passed.

And, too, I have seen a glimpse of the future, for I have in my office at the White House a model of the beautiful memorial you are erect here as an everlasting reminder of the bravery of Sam Houston and his men.

Men fought here for principles they loved more dearly than their own lives. Liberty-loving people will always do battle for principles they believe to be right. Civilization, alas, has not yet made it unnecessary for men to die in battle to sustain principle. It is, however, my hope that in this generation the United States, by its own example, can sustain and help to maintain principles by means of peace rather than by means of war.

The pioneers and the liberators of Texas, looking down on us today, would, I am certain, say amen to that.

The Alamo

Fate has been kind to me today. In my many travels, a visit to the Alamo has hitherto been impossible. I, therefore, welcome the opportunity in visiting this shrine to pay my small tribute to the heroes who laid down their lives a hundred years ago, in order that Texas might become first, an independent nation, and later a mighty state in our Union.

We are not lacking in many monuments of noble deeds, but the Alamo stands out in high relief as our noblest exemplification of sacrifice, heroic and pure.

Travis and Bowie and Crockett and Bonham, and the hundred and seventy-eight who were their comrades, by their supreme sacrifice made Texas live.

Without the inspiration of the cry—"Remember the Alamo"—the great southwest might never have become a part of the nation.

Without the tradition of the Alamo, every community throughout the land, every young man and young woman about to enter upon the duties of citizenship would have lacked one of our noblest symbols of the American spirit.

BRAVE MEN VISIONED THE CENTURY BEYOND

I cannot help but feel that the brave men who died here saw on the distant horizon some forecast of the century beyond. I hope they know that we have not discarded or lost the virility and the ideals of the pioneer. I hope they know that we have not lost the virility and the ideals of the pioneer. I hope they know that we have not lost the virility and the ideals of the pioneer.

Travis' message—"I shall never surrender"—is a good watchword for each and every one of us today. It is with a feeling of deep reverence and humble veneration that I place a wreath on this shrine where the blood of a hundred and eighty-two Americans was shed—but not in vain.

Austin

It is a great regret to me that I cannot make a longer stop in Austin, in order to receive the hospitality of the citizens as well as of your governor in the capital of the state.

As San Jacinto and the Alamo represent to me the struggle for independence and the earlier days of the republic, so this capital city represents the later days of the republic and these long years of statehood since Texas became the 28th star in the national flag.

I have recalled the amazing lives of General Houston, of Stephen F. Austin, of those who founded the German colony of Baron von Bastrop, of that far-seeing son of Georgia, Mirabeau B. Lamar.

ON TEXAS PEOPLE

Texas has always had men who had a zest for life, for peace, for progress, by their own hands won honours at home and abroad. They have served in the halls of the national legislature and in cabinets of presidents.

The fine tradition continues. You know, I am sure, that I lean heavily upon the shoulders of the Lone Star state, who are rendering such fine service to the government of the United States. To one of them, not only I but the whole nation owes a special debt—one who began his long and distinguished public career as a member of your legislature here in Austin—one whom I proudly and affectionately call my helper—the vice president of the United States.

Saving to County.

A considerable saving to Fulton county will be effected as a result of the general operating loan being held legal.

Since the general loan was tied up in the courts, the county has paid salaries by borrowing money from the clearing house banks under the county deficiency act allowing Fulton to borrow up to $500,000 on resources other than tax anticipation notes.

A meeting of the board of commissioners probably will be held before July 1, the date the casual deficiency loans come due, in order to pass resolutions authorizing the board chairman, Dr. Charles R. Adams, and the commission clerk, Frank R. Fling, to sign tax anticipation notes to obtain the $2,000,000 general operating loan, Fling said.

The approximate $300,000 the county has borrowed already will be paid back out of the general operating loan when due, it was said.

A saving will be effected by the county through cash payments for machinery and materials, which the county is allowed a considerable discount for cash. The discount amounts to more than the interest of the loan.

The rate of interest on the money this year is the smallest in many years.

Since the general loan was tied up in the courts, the county has paid salaries by borrowing money from the clearing house banks under the county deficiency act allowing Fulton to borrow up to $500,000 on resources other than tax anticipation notes.

A meeting of the board of commissioners probably will be held before July 1, the date the casual deficiency loans come due, in order to pass resolutions authorizing the board chairman, Dr. Charles R. Adams, and the commission clerk, Frank R. Fling, to sign tax anticipation notes to obtain the $2,000,000 general operating loan, Fling said.

The approximate $300,000 the county has borrowed already will be paid back out of the general operating loan when due, it was said.

A saving will be effected by the county through cash payments for machinery and materials, which the county is allowed a considerable discount for cash. The discount amounts to more than the interest of the loan.

The rate of interest on the money this year is the smallest in many years.

Five New Republics.

The constitution creates five new allied republics. They are Azerbaijan, Georgia, Armenia, Kazakhstan and Kirghiz, all of which will have the right to declare war, to ratify international agreements, to discharge and appoint members to the council of peoples commissars. Negro Proves Bravery With Tear Gas Bomb

Far from Arctic where temperatures last night, so when a negro with chattering teeth entered police headquarters Station Lieutenant Luther Carroll became interested.

"What's the matter?" he asked.

Then the reason for the chattering teeth became apparent. The negro drew forth a lethal-looking bomb. Station Lieutenant Carroll eyed it bravely, then smiled.

"Don't worry," he reassured the negro. "It's nothing but a tear gas bomb. An especially heavy one, yes. The kind we use to toss through windows. Where did you get it?"

The much-relieved negro said he found it near a WPA project near Hapeville.

once you have decided that you value votes more than your own self-respect. There is nothing easier than spending money you do not have to pay, and it is easy and amusing to indict and condemn the motives of your opponents, when you have lost your sense of proportion and have become convinced that you and you alone are indispensable to the people.

Governor Landon has made clear also the basic policies which should be adopted by the government in order that we may realize a business recovery which is permanent. He has made fully clear that the first essential must be the restoration of confidence. Confidence in the curmaterial progress and spiritual growth. He has had the courage not to attempt to compete in promises and panaceas with the false prophets who for three and a half years have dominated the public. He has not been afraid to recall our minds to the truth inherent in which supposedly outward phrases as the "United States of America," are used for courage and "His word is as good as his bond." He was being termed a criminal in the risk of being termed a traitor. He has no personal opinion; the phrase such as these imply a sense of values we cannot fail to lose.

We have been through bitter times, and they have left their mark. Our generation has seen the collapse of the financial chicanery that was to make us millionaires, and the collapse of the political chicanery that was to make us kings. Grimly we know that neither can achieve its promise, that the result of one is portended by the other's loss or perversion.

HERE IS AN AMERICAN NOT EAGER TO DICTATE

From its inception through its darkest hours, in its worst crises, the United States has—and I say it with all knowledge of its meaning—held in its hands the hope of the future people. Here there is our responsibility. Here is the crisis which we must meet and here is the choice which we must make. Here is the challenge to the American—unpretentious, unassuming, willing to serve—but not eager to dictate. Here is a homely record of who you will, and here are homely virtues and common sense answers. Here is no gilt and here no theatrical dramatics, no overblownness, no ostentatiousness, no pretense of supremacy. Here is a man who is the product of our own country and our own time, who has made his way as we have had to make ours, and who has assumed at each turn of his life the obligations imposed on him and who has fulfilled them in the case of instances with credit. Here is a man of typical prairie state who has retained within his heart the spirit and the inspirations of those whom he came before him and of whom Whit-tier wrote:

"They crossed the prairies as of old
The Pilgrims crowded the sea,
To make the west as they the east
The homesteads of the free."

Here is a man, governor of a great state, with an enviable record in the highest office, serving that administration may have vision and yet be honest and efficient.

Here are the policies for which he stands and the methods which he

NO FRIEND OF MONOPOLY IN ANY BUSINESS

No friend of monopoly in any business, Governor Landon has announced without equivocation that we must attack the evils of monopoly frankly and resolutely, and must insist that government keep in force at all times a fair competitive system. His position on other issues is based upon this same determination to preserve equality—equality of justice under law, and equality for the wage earner in his negotiation with the wage payer. Months ago he urged us as republicans to make it clear to the needy everywhere that the changes we pledge in the administration of relief will in no wise jeopardize the aid which the needy must receive, but will entirely be directed toward bringing order out of chaos by purging the Federal Relief Administration of partisan waste and incompetence.

Governor Landon, a product of modern America, is aware of the changes which modern American appliances and machine-minded civilization have brought about. He knows that the duty of government is to protect those handicapped by conditions over which they have no control. And in his own words "we have begun to do it, but not as fast as the obligation to protect old age lies straight before us." He has condemned the present administration's debauching of the civil service and has contended that the merit system of government employment must be restored, improved, expanded, and extended to include the opening up of the higher positions.

ATTITUDE ON QUESTIONS S FROM PATRIOTISM

Governor Landon's attitude on these questions springs from patriotism and not partisanship. Accordingly he has made his appeal far beyond party lines to those citizens who are not members of either of the two parties alike, who want the government to play its proper part in meeting the problems of our times, but who wish it to do so without wasting the time and money of the people in endangering their future. He believes that these moderate people want neither radicalism on the one hand nor reaction on the other; that they want performance and not promises; that they want the elimination of the hysterical tone from the government; that they are tired of epiphsies, evasions, and clichés; that they want no flouting of the constitution whether by executive evasion, loose legislation or pernicious propaganda; that they are tired of the class and class divisions in a country that knows no classes; and that they propose to solve their problems in accordance with the principles of the

This great group of modern Americans, thinking people make up the vast majority of this nation. It is this group to which Governor Landon has appealed. It is this group which he represents.

The policies of division, despair and distrust may be effective in the use of a political machine, but they will be bringing permanent recovery of employment. They will never bring about a permanent restoration of confidence, and they will never bring about a bright future to which Americans have a right to think their country is entitled and towards which our history has led us so far and surely points.

PHRASES IMPLY

SENSE OF VALUES

Governor Landon has dared to give voice about the "welter of cynicism and distrust" which has enveloped us in "the highest places in the land." Few of the essential facts and essential beliefs by which mankind has lived are so completely and so lowly misunderstood, struggle towards material progress and spiritual growth. He has had the courage not to attempt to compete in promises and panaceas with the false prophets who for three and a half years have dominated the public. He has not been afraid to recall our minds to the truth inherent in which supposedly outworn phrases as the "United States of America" are used for its bond. 'His word is as good as his bond.' He was being willing to run the risk of being termed a traitor in order to reassert his opinion of the place which such empty sense of values we cannot fail to lose.

We have been through bitter times, and they have left their mark. Our generation has seen the collapse of the financial chicanery that was to make us millionaires, and the collapse of the political chicanery that was to make us kings. Grimly we know that neither can achieve its promise, that the result of one is portended by the other's loss of opportunity.

The above cartoon does not count in the contest. It's just a SAMPLE, drawn to give you the idea of the game.

First of all, let's look at the door. There we see the initial "J." Then we notice that the man is saying "It's Ed!" Well, we'll take his word for it. Let's remember "ED." Now, what's that "GAR" doing there on the door? "ED" plus "GAR" would equal the name "EDGAR." So far that gives us "J" "ED-GAR." Next we see the word "WHO." That's very good. That reminds us—there's "VER" on that sign at the right of the picture. That sounds familiar—"J" "ED-GAR" "WHO-VER." We'll be darned if it isn't J. EDGAR HOOVER.

Now you've got the idea, haven't you? Well, then—see what you can do with the official cartoons. Name Cartoon No. 1 next Sunday!

Mrs. John K. Ottley Compliments Women of Fourth Estate at Tea

Mrs. J. Harry Rogers, chairman, and prominent newspaperwoman of Atlanta, who composed membership of the press committee of the Young Matrons' Circle for the Tallulah Falls school, shared honors yesterday afternoon at the beautiful tea given by Mrs. John K. Ottley at Joyeuse, her Peachtree road estate.

The lower floor of the lovely home was thrown in suite for the occasion. In the library and dining room, where the guests were received, large, white pottery urns filled with pastel-shaded garden flowers featuring the soft shades, were the beautiful decorations. The table in the dining room was covered with a real lace cloth, and gracing the center was a silver and crystal bowl filled with pastel-shaded garden flowers. On either end of the table were silver candleholders holding white burning tapers, and all other appointments were of silver. In the living room and on the sun porch, which feature the rich deep tones of red in the furnishings, were further offset in the decorative motif by quantities of red and orange summer garden flowers interspersed with graceful arrangements of greenery.

Receiving with Mrs. Ottley were Mesdames Rogers, George McCarthy, John K. Ottley Jr., Irving Schweppe, retiring president of the Young Matrons' Circle for the Tallulah Falls school; Willard McBurney, newly elected president of the circle, and members of the press committee.

Mrs. Ottley was beautifully groomed in black net applied with large chiffon flowers. Mrs. Rogers wore a becoming floral print, with tones of orchid predominating, and a hat of Attractive Brookwood Hills Home Occupied by Dr. and Mrs. Pittman

By Sally Forth.

THE thrill that comes only once in a lifetime, when you occupy the first home of your own, is being enjoyed now by Dr. and Mrs. James L. Pittman, who moved into their most attractive Dutch colonial home at 291 Huntingdon road in Brookwood Hills last week-end. When Sally first glimpsed the attractive white house, with its blue blinds and red rambler roses growing over the doorway, she felt immediately the hospitality that is radiating from within.

Clare Jones Pittman always has been noted for her distinctive choice of costumes and into her home she has put much of this style that is hers. The spacious living room is papered with a solid yellow wallpaper, with white Venetian blinds and yellow celanese voile hanging at the windows. The large fireplace and the woodwork is white, adding to the light in the room. The handsome furniture is eighteenth century Chippendale, and there is a touch of bright color in the blue and white slip covers, the blue rug and the flower prints on the wall, outlined in vermilion.

The dining room, just off the living room, is done in floral paper, with a yellow background, and here a red rug is used. The draperies in this room are most effective, being white taffeta accented with a wide valance of deep red and white stripes. The draperies feature the soft colors in the wallpaper. The furniture here, too, is eighteenth century and the seats of the ladder-back chairs are upholstered in white leather.

Every house must have its lounging spot, and Clare and Pitt expect to do much relaxing in their den. The walls are of knotty pine and one side of the room is covered with book shelves. The Venetian blinds here are the color of the pine and the cords are the same color red as the handsome red leather chairs and couch that furnish the room.

At the windows are bright draperies showing hunting scenes and a large hunting print hangs on one wall. The master bedroom is done in a blue floral print paper, which makes an effective background for the antique white furniture, and the draperies of peach-colored chintz, which are lined with terra cotta.

Perhaps the most exciting part of the house is the attractive recreation room, which occupies nearly all of the basement. The floor is of black and white tile and the furniture carries out the same color motif, with touches of red being used most effectively. No less charming than the house is the lovely garden at the side and back, where summer flowers are in bloom in a riot of color and where a lily pool and cool shade trees form an ideal setting for an afternoon or evening out of doors.

Clare and Pitt are two of the most popular members of the married contingent and their home is sure to be the scene of many happy gatherings of their contemporaries.

ACCORDING to Dame Rumor, a golf course at a near-by vacation resort formed the setting of the romance which bids fair to culminate in a wedding next fall. Both parties have kept time to Lohengrin before and both are ardent golfers.

The future bride, if rumor is correct, is a very young brunette and, according to those who have met her, is a very charming person. She resides in a near-by city and should she become the bride of her well-known Atlanta admirer, she will be a delightful acquisition to Atlanta society. But Sally, along with other interested parties, will assume a radio-like manner, inasmuch as she will stand by for further announcements.

To Attend Outing.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Morton, of 325 Sinclair avenue, N. E., will celebrate their 41st wedding anniversary today by attending the annual outing of the Telephone Pioneers of America to be held this evening at the East Lake Country Club.

Davis-McMillen Rites Solemnized At Bride's Home

Miss Ella Catherine Davis, daughter of Mrs. Edward Campbell Davis and the late Dr. Davis, became the bride of Earl McMillen, formerly of Valparaiso, Ind., at a beautiful ceremony quietly solemnized yesterday morning at the Davis home on Peachtree battle avenue. Dr. Ryland Knight, pastor of the Second-Douglas Baptist church, read the marriage service, which was witnessed by members of the bride's and groom's families and a few close relatives.

Multi-colored garden flowers in attractive arrangement formed the decorations throughout the lower floor of the home. Baskets and bowls of roses, larkspur, gladioli, and columbine graced the mantels, tables and consoles.

The bride was unattended. She chose for the wedding a modish suit combining a jacket and blouse of London tan with a skirt of egg-shell green. Her accessories were also in London tan, and completing the ensemble was a shoulder spray of bronze orchids.

Mr. McMillen and his bride left for a motor trip to Florida. Upon their return they will reside in their new home on Howell mill road.

Among the relatives from a distance who attended the wedding ceremony were Mrs. Samuel Marshall, Mrs. Bradwell Lanier, Miss Rhonda Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, all of Albany.

Completing the costume was a shoulder cluster of pink roses and lilies of the valley. The couple left by motor for a wedding trip through Florida and on their return will reside on George street.

The bride, during her five years' residence in Brunswick, has gained many friends in social and civic circles of the community. She has been one of the first grade teachers in the City of Brunswick.

The bridegroom is the son of A. W. Kirkland Sr., of Decatur, and has resided in Brunswick for several years. He is associated with the Atlantic, Birmingham and Coast railroad.

VETS OF GRAY TO JOIN 'BOYS IN BLUE' IN '38

Confederates Vote Meet at Gettysburg; Atkinson Is New Commander.

SHREVEPORT, La., June 11.—(AP)—Confederate Veterans, after heated argument today, voted to meet jointly at Gettysburg in 1938 with the blue-clad soldiers they fought three-quarters of a century ago.

In another action today, the old warriors of the South elected General Homer Atkinson, 85-year-old veteran of Petersburg, Va., to succeed General Harry Rens Lee of Nashville, Tenn., as their commander in chief.

Atkinson, commander of the Army of Northern Virginia, immediately appointed Lee his adjutant general and chief of staff. Atkinson defeated General J. M. Claypool of St. Louis by a vote of 272 to 228.

The election climaxed the 46th annual reunion of the "Boys in Gray" who will march bravely, though many of their comrades in previous parades will be missing, in a final gas parade through the streets here tomorrow.

No City Chosen

That no reunion city was selected for a 1937 meeting place was taken to indicate the present reunion might be the last for the aged veterans of the War Between the States.

The venerable soldiers adopted a resolution, however, after agitated debate, to meet jointly with the Grand Army of the Republic, their foes in the War Between the States, in 1938, at Gettysburg, Pa. Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania had sent a personal invitation to the Confederate Veterans to participate in a joint meeting.

Argumentation waxed hot on the question of meeting jointly with the "Boys in Blue." One veteran, speaking for the resolution, said: "Everything will be on a fifty-fifty basis. We are all going to be treated alike."

Another feeble veteran said at reference to Gettysburg: "I am not there. He was Frank Allen Howell, 96, of Durant, Miss., a survivor of Pickett's famous charge.

Still another veteran vehemently expressed his distaste for a joint meeting. "I am a rebel still," he remarked, "I will not meet them fifty-fifty."

General E. N. Yarbrough of Columbia, S. C., was named commander of the Army of Northern Virginia, to succeed General Atkinson. General J. A. Glenn, Starkville, Miss., was chosen commander for the department of Tennessee, and General A. L. Steele of Houston, Tex., was re-elected commander of the trans-Mississippi department.

General R. E. Bullington, Memphis, Tenn., was elected as honorary commander in chief for life.

The sons of Confederate Veterans elected officers as follows: W. Scott Hancock, St. Louis, Mo., commander-in-chief, re-elected; T. Gilbert Wood, Roanoke, Va., adjutant; General E. N. Yarbrough, Columbia, S. C., commander of the S. C. V.; McWhorter Miller, Atlanta, Ga., commander of the Army of Tennessee, and Clifton Ratcliff, Oklahoma City, commander of the trans-Mississippi divisions.

John Ashley Jones, of Atlanta, Ga., was named as a member of the executive committee and Laurence C. Bell, Columbus, Ohio, as historian-in-chief.

ATOMS NUCLEI ANTICS UNDERGO CLOSE STUDY

Rochester Scientists Seek To Open Long-Closed Secrets.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 11.—(AP)—Antics of Atom Nuclei—particles so small that 100,000,000 are not visible to the most powerful microscopic eye—are being studied by University of Rochester scientists seeking new knowledge in a field first explored by Democritus in the fifth century B. C.

Stocky, black-haired Dr. Lee A. DuBridge, professor of physics, who is directing atomic disintegration experiments here, declines to predict what new scientific vistas the work might open.

"Nobody can answer that question," he said, leaning against a giant atom-smashing cyclotron in the university physics building. "It's all pure guesswork now. We have the cumulative knowledge of many generations on two continents to begin with, and the mechanical developments of the world's greatest physicists to carry it on."

"But we are attacking the unknown laws governing atomic behavior of nature's most impregnable mysteries."

Dr. DuBridge said the prime objective at present is photographing the path of particles thrown out in an atomic disintegration, measuring the energy of these particles and length of their track and determining their characteristics.

To do this, three methods are used: 1—The Wilson cloud chamber, perfected by Dr. Charles T. R. Wilson, noted British physicist. It is a glass incandescent-filled with water vapor. Atom nuclei, at the point of disintegration, are fed into the chamber. Condensing the water vapor, or clouds, around particles thrown off make them visible to microscopic cameras.

2—The Wilkins photoplate, pioneered by Dr. T. Russell Wilkins, University of Rochester. Unstable nuclei are forced into emulsion on a photographic plate. The tracks of particles during gradual disintegration is clearly visible in the resultant photographs.

3—The cyclotron, or atom smasher, which offers the best means of atomic research. It is a vacuum chamber, suspended between the north and south poles of a giant electromagnet. Hydrogen atoms are poured into the vacuum chamber and sent spinning around with a 20,000-volt high frequency current. Each time the atoms traverse the electrodes they are given another "kick" until, through centrifugal force, they reach the rim of the chamber with 4,000,000 volts energy.

These swift-moving nuclei are then blasted into a target of metal. A specially constructed camera photograph the disintegration.

Final adjustments on the cyclotron were being made and it probably will be operating within a fortnight.

Perjury may bring a life sentence in Alabama, Maine, Rhode Island and South Dakota, it is committed, during testimony at a trial where the defendant is liable to obtain a life sentence, while in Texas it may be punished by death.

The ancient Egyptians thought red-haired women were witches, too, and they annually went through the ceremony of burning a maiden alive who had the misfortune to have a red head, as a sign of the gods of their displeasure.

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

An Oil and a Cream That Will Prevent Ravages of Summer Sun

By MIGNON.

For those of you who are hopping around in warm, sunny places, lying on the beach and letting the wind play on your face, there are many beauty problems, and first, you must have something to keep your skin from burning. It isn't only the looks of the burns that matter, but they are sometimes very dangerous. Delicate skins must be protected with suntan oil or cream, to prevent serious injury.

I can tell you of a suntan oil and a cream, made by the same manufacturer—one is as effective as the other. These aids allow the tanning rays of the sun to reach the skin without giving it that crisp, burned appearance—and feeling—so annoying to those of you who enjoy swimming, golfing, boating, motoring, etc., during the summer months.

Apply the oil or cream over all exposed parts of the body before going out. Neither will leave that undesirable greasy or sticky feeling. After prolonged exposure to hot sun, it is well to renew the application, as it is healing as well as preventive in nature.

Whether vacationing at home or at a beach, everyone who enjoys outdoor life should have a bottle of this oil or a tube of the cream. If you are interested, I'll be delighted to pass on to you the name of this delightful product, which, from experience, I know will be a joy to you.

If you wish to know the name of the product mentioned above, and where it may be obtained, call Mignon at The Constitution. Do not write unless you will be a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fox Has 'Sons O' Guns' Starring Joe E. Brown

Joe E. Brown, the awning-lipped comedian, promises to bring an unusually big package of laughs in his new Warner Brothers musical romance, "Sons O' Guns," scheduled to open at the Fox theater today. The picture is based on the rollicking Broadway stage hit of the same title, which was written by Jack Donaghy, a colorful, mirth-laden comedy of World War days, dealing with the bright and hilarious side of dough-boy life in the A. E. F.

Four big specialty numbers in the production were staged by Bobby Connolly, who put on the original stage production.

One number from the play "Over Here" is sung by Joe and the Chamberlaine male chorus of 32 voices. Two new song numbers were written by Harry Warren and Al Dubin especially for the picture, one of which, "For a Buck and a Quarter a Day," is sung by Thompson.

The other Warren and Dubin song, "In the Arms of the Army Man," is sung by the musical comedy star, Winifred Shaw. The fourth number is a rife of fun and fast pantomime action.

Eric Blore plays the part of a former valet of Joe's who becomes his hard-boiled Thompson. Craig Reynolds is the tough lieutenant who forces Joe to the front and Joseph King is the father of Joe's fiancée.

Grand Offers Baxter As Mexican Robin Hood

Warner Baxter heads the thrilling cavalcade which rides out of the spectacular end of America's western frontier history in "Robin Hood of El Dorado," offered at the Fox Grand theater, starting today, in conjunction with the eighth annual presentation of the Atlanta Kiddie Revue, which is a handsomely mounted stage entertainment, featuring talented young Atlantans donating their services to aid the Milk Fund of the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children.

Appearing with Baxter in "Robin Hood of El Dorado" are Ann Loring, Bruce Cabot, Margo, Eric Linden and many other familiar players. The cast is a big one, commensurate with the grandeur of this magnificent outdoor spectacle of early California.

"Robin Hood of El Dorado" is the story of a man, half Indian, half Spaniard, who like the first Robin Hood, robbed the greedy rich to repay the poor. Joaquin is a Mexican peasant, living on the estate of a wealthy hacendado in the United States. He has just obtained possession of California—in a treaty which promises protection of the lives and property of Mexicans living in California.

But the U. S. government provides only a few soldiers to police the new territory, and the sudden discovery of gold in California in 1848 sends thousands of predatory unscrupulous adventures into the newly-acquired territory.

Joaquin is thus robbed. His young wife (Margo) dies of shock at the experience. Joaquin's brother is unjustly hanged and Joaquin himself is unjustly beaten. These experiences change him from a gentle peasant into a vengeful bandit.

Claude Hopkins Plays Casino Dance Tonight

What music critics of note the country over have called the greatest negro jazz orchestra in America, headed by Claude Hopkins, will play at Sunset casino, from 9 o'clock tonight to 2 o'clock in the morning to what is expected to be a record-breaking attendance.

The orchestra features the tenor, Orlando Hester, who last year held Atlanta's spellbound when he sang "Trees." Roberson will sing several songs.

Radio fans in Atlanta remember Roberson's nightly broadcasts over the Columbia Broadcasting System from the famous Cotton Club, in the heart of Harlem. Hopkins' orchestra also has been featured in several radio shows, the most renowned being the "Barber Shop Blues."

The casino management is making special preparation to accommodate a large number of guests, and many of whom already have made reservations. A special side of the casino will be set aside for them.

New Program To Open At Capitol on Sunday

The Capitol theater will present a complete change in program, starting Sunday, both on stage and screen. The new screen attraction will be "Yellow Dust," with Richard Dix, Leila Hyams, Moroni Olsen and Jessie Ralph in the leading roles. It tells an exciting story of the old West and deals with the never to be forgotten gold rush in California. The story takes place during the time when the hand that pulled the trigger ruled the land.

The new stage show will be "Sirens in Satin" with a cast of twenty-five stage and radio stars offering a gala salute with many new and novel ideas in the way of entertainment. The Club Royale orchestra of fifteen pieces will furnish music for the show.

The current feature picture at the Capitol is "Nobody's Fool" and offers Edward Everett Horton, Glenda Farrell, Cesar Romero and Warren Hyatt in the leading roles. On the stage at the present time is "Viva La Rumba" with a cast of native Cuban and Mexican entertainers.

A delightful romantic comedy, with songs and musical background, no small part of the picture's success is due to the music composed by Fritz Kreisler, which heard through two hours of entertainment that leaves audiences undecided as to whether Grace Moore's voice, her renewed loveliness, the comedy, the romance or the music, has provided the chief portion of the enjoyment.

Despite the unusual nature of his feature attraction, Manager Murray has in no wise stinted on the high Rialto standard of entertainment.

FINAL INSTALLMENT.

Nearly exhausted, doggedly making his way forward, Blackie at length reached the Grenoble, a small, exclusive hotel on top of a hill. It had been partly wrecked by the earthquake. Smoke was pouring from its roof. Blackie made his way among the refugees dragging various vehicles—even baby carriages and vacuum sweepers—piled high with belongings they were attempting to save. He went into the hotel lobby. A chamberlain lay in a heap on the floor, all but covered with plaster. A bellboy came down the stairway by the useless elevator; he was carrying an old woman who lay inert in his arms. "Is Mary Blake here?" Blackie asked.

"She lived here, but she hasn't been back since the quake. We're getting everyone out. The fire's creeping up."

He wandered back into the street filled with the homeless seeking some place of safety; asked various persons if they had seen a red-haired girl in a white ball dress. Always the answer was the same. Then he thought of Father Mullin's Mission. Tim and his prayers—would praying do any good? Perhaps if he prayed—but he could not bring himself to the act of penitence; to confess belief in something at which he had always scoffed.

He reached the mission just before dawn; it lay in ruins. A soldier was stationed there on guard.

"I'm looking for the priest that used to be here," he said.

"Think he's doing some rescue work at the stables next to the car barns," said the soldier. He had just got there and hadn't seen a red-haired girl in a white dress.

When he at last reached the stable its interior was feebly lighted by candles in church candlesticks. Injured, dead and dying were lying in the stalls. Father Mullin, his clothing blackened, torn and half stripped off, was lifting an injured man from a stretcher and placing him on a cot. A dying girl was praying with faltering words. A nun and a Coast Guard girl he knew, Goldie, were helping with the nursing.

"Blackie!" cried the girl, still in her stage costume. "Here's Mat!"

He stood before the cot looking dazedly down at his entertainer.

"Hello, Mat," said Blackie, a business in his throat as though he were on the point of crying. Mat was dying; the girl's gesture had told him that.

"Those cops couldn't keep me from the Chickens' Ball," said Mat with pride. "I got away from them. His lips continued to move painfully. Blackie's throat tightened more. If someone prayed for Mat.

"Blackie!" called Mat as Norton started to leave him. "I saw Mary go on. She done all right! She's a great kid." Blackie, not trusting himself to speak, patted Mat's shoulder, and went to Tim who was ministering to a wounded man on a cot.

"Tim," he said—and the name of his friend sounded like a supplication.

Tim stood up and looked across the cot at Blackie. A rush of their old boyish friendliness for each other welled up in the eyes of both. "You've got to help me find Mary, Tim." Father Mullin studied that new, chastened expression on Blackie's face. "What do you want to find her for? The Paradise is gone."

"I don't want her for that." He took Father Mullin's question for a refusal of help, and he started to leave the stable, all but staggering from weariness and his emotional experiences of the night.

Father Mullin's face lighted up, and he cried: "Wait a minute. . . . Sister Agatha, look after this injured man, will you?" He joined Blackie and led him to a church dignitary who was binding a Chinaman's broken arm.

"Monsieur, I'd like to leave a while—to help a friend."

"Go ahead, my son."

Dawn had broken when Blackie and Father Mullin emerged from the stable, but the light, filtering through the smoke and dusts, gave each other cheerless. About the confusion of noises on the streets, arose explosions of sound, followed by a rumbling as of falling buildings. A truckload of marines passed and Father Mullin asked them what the explosions were.

"They're dynamiting to stop the fire," was the answer.

"Blackie, have you looked for Mary around the Lyric?"

"As well as I could alone," replied Blackie, still in a daze. "I found Burley. He quaked got him. They were together."

"The soldiers are working there now. We'll try again," Father Mullin paused, raised his eyes, and his lips moved as though he were uttering a prayer. It seemed to strengthen and encourage him, for, through his own daze, Blackie saw a smile on his friend's face. "Come on. We'll try the Lyric."

They joined the soldiers who were looking among the masses of broken masonry and timbers for bodies while the fire kept creeping closer to them.

"Are you fellows looking for a red-haired girl?" asked one of two soldiers who passed them carrying a sheeted body on a stretcher.

Father Mullin stopped. Blackie's quick forward step, and himself uncovered the face of the dead girl. "No, she is not the one," he said, crossing himself.

"Hope you find her, pal," said the soldier, and he and his companion resumed their journey. Louder and closer grew the almost continuous booming of dynamite explosions, thunderous crumbling of a dynamited building was so close that the dust it raised settled upon them.

"They're getting nearer," said Blackie, his heart sickening at the thought that Mary's body might be buried in the wreckage of the Lyric and that flames would devour it.

"Give me a hand with this beam, Blackie!" They lifted the heavy timber. There was no body under it. They moved to another timber, straining their back to move it.

"I thought we were a million miles apart, Tim," said Blackie.

"I knew I'd never lost you for a minute, boy."

Together they lifted one end of the great beam, moved it a foot to one side. Underneath it was the crushed body of Alaska, hugging to his chest the loving cup filled with gold coins which had been awarded him at the Chickens' Ball. They stood looking at him until a man's voice spoke to them.

"We've got the dynamite, boys. You'll have to leave."

In a moment a number of marines were about them, digging into the wreckage, making holes for placing dynamite. Father Mullin lowered the beam upon the body of Alaska and crossed himself. Blackie stood unmoving, dazed, chastened. Father Mullin took his arm and led him away. A minute later arose a warning shout, followed by an explosion that sent the still standing portions of the walls of Lyric hall crashing into the street.

"We haven't tried Nob Hill, the Burley home," said Father Mullin. "Then there's one other place—her teacher's, Madame Albani. You go to Nob Hill, Blackie. I'll try Albani's. I'll meet you at the corner of Octavia and Fillmore streets."

Without replying, Blackie headed for Nob Hill; his friend took the opposite direction.

Almost exhausted—he had never once thought of food or drink during all of that horrible night—Blackie slowly climbed Nob Hill, following a wall. The heat was intense. His hair was matted with dirt, blood and perspiration. Smoke and dust got into his red-rimmed eyes. Suddenly out of the murk—it might have been early dawn instead of oncoming day—

The first and fastest trip I ever made to Europe took place one night about 20 years ago—in a dream. I felt that I was flying over the sea. It was a cool, and quick journey. Before I woke up, I was hovering over an Italian city, trying to read the signs on the stores!

The Balloon Green Planned to Use in Crossing the Atlantic.

That was one kind of "dream of ocean flight" but a certain man had another kind of dream close to a century ago. Charles Green, a famous English balloonist, did some day-dreaming on the subject, and even a little more—though he did not get so far as an actual trial.

Green went up in a balloon for the first time in 1821, when he was 36 years of age. Later he took part in balloon races, let himself fall from high in the air with parachutes to take them safely to the ground, and several times rose in a balloon basket while he was seated on a pony!

Green's greatest deed was to ride in a balloon, with two comrades, from England to Germany. The trip lasted 18 hours, and the distance flown was 480 miles.

Perhaps that journey was what made the great balloonist think of crossing the Atlantic. At any rate he began to make plans a few years later, in 1840, for a trip from England to North America. He even fitted a balloon "with fan propellers, run by clockwork." He supposed that with a guide rope hanging down to the water, he might guide his course safely across the ocean.

A few years later, Green gave up the idea, and I think it is lucky for him that he did so. The winds over the Atlantic tend to blow eastward far more than westward, and there was little chance of success. On the other hand, there was much chance of dropping to a watery grave. Green kept on with balloon flights of a less dangerous kind. He made 500 of them, the last when he was 67 years old. He lived to the ripe old age of 85.

Walter Wellman, Chicago newspaperman, was the first to dare the "dirigible" flight across the Atlantic. After careful planning, he boarded the America with five companions—and with a gray cat as mascot. The start took place from Atlantic City, N. J., on October 15, 1901. The airship made about 250 miles eastward over the ocean, then was struck by heavy winds which pushed it southward. It fell into the sea but all on board—including the cat—were saved by an ocean steamer.

Green and Wellman were "ahead of their time," but other men were to make the dream come true. We shall follow their success in stories next week.

Crackers Rout Lookouts, 7-0; Play Barons Here Tonight

BREAK O'DAY!
By Ralph McGill

Editor's Note—During the absence of Ralph McGill, who is en route to the Panama canal, Break O'Day will be written intermittently by outstanding sports personalities.

A Guest Column By Harry Mehre

ATHENS, Ga., June 11.—I am guest columnist for McGill today on the condition that he be in Athens late in November and do a little guest coaching for me on the day of the Georgia Tech-Georgia game. How I would enjoy sauntering up to him five minutes before game time and asking him, "How do they look?" An old McGill custom. I feel certain that he cannot be any worse coach than I am a columnist ("or coach." Who said that?)

How I have envied these narrators of sports. Their analyses, prognostications and, last but not least, their recounting of the facts of the particular contest. You know they can never be very far wrong, as long as the old typewriter will spell the word "if." When they do guess one we read and reread for days "as stated in this column last Saturday." If they happen to be wrong we forget it, as there is nothing so out of date as yesterday's newspaper.

Your task seemed so easy and simple, Ralph, until I took over this assignment, but 900 words are a lot of words when you are not saying anything. You know McGill has the reputation of taking nothing and making a story out of it. I fear I am taking something and am just about to make nothing out of it.

Your Constitution sports editor and I have been on many gridiron invasions during the past seven years. Each Saturday morning following our final lecture to the squad I return to the hotel room to find the portly McGill seated comfortably in the biggest chair in the room puffing away at a miniature Hindenberg. He immediately becomes the football surgeon, taking the opposing team apart, tossing the remnants onto my lap. Then in a long, loud and lengthy discourse he takes them piece by piece and either praising or belittling each part, puts them back together again. With this preliminary work out of the way he begins to think of food and press passes. He always insists that I eat something, and cheers me up with the old Sing Sing anthem, "The condemned man arose early and ate a hearty breakfast." Great company, this McGill.

A CHEERFUL COMPANION.

The luncheon devoured (by McGill) he dons his coat and hat, picks up the portable, extends his right hand and in the cheerful tone of the coroner, "Best of luck, see you after the game for any statements, if you win." Very reassuring this McGill. I do not know how I would get along without him on these trips.

This thing is beginning to look like a typewriter picture of McGill, but I can't get all of him into this typewriter of mine. I think I will try one of those adding machines.

I know that all is not peace and ease with these men of sports. They, too, receive alumni mail and from both camps. They dare not get too optimistic or pessimistic over Alma Mater's chances the coming season.

In their four moments all have confided to me how little they are appreciated. The standard tale deals with their football story from a foreign field, an invasion of the north. Hours of toil in a hot or cold telegraph office. Picturing in words a dramatic and romantic account of the day's victory, a mad dash to the train, Atlanta at last. The good hand of fellowship from admiring readers and last the query, "What game did you cover last week?"

I can always top that one for them with my own experience following our victory over N. Y. U. in 1931. I thought the team had done very well and as usual in times of victory was as modestly as possible receiving congratulations. Upon entering the hotel immediately after the game I met a classmate of mine from Notre Dame. After the usual salutation, I thought it was about time for a few words of praise for the play of the team that afternoon. I did not have to wait long. His next words were "What business are you in now, Harry?" I never did answer that one.

WATCH SPEC TOWNS.

Local sport interest is focused on Spec Towns, our Olympic prospect. Towns leaves early this week to compete in the Princeton invitation meet to be run Saturday. He will run against the pick of the high hurdlers of the country. Many look

SMOKIES TAKE DOUBLE-HEADER FROM NASHVILLE

Moon Wins First Game,
3-1, Limiting Vols
To Six Hits.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 11.—Knoxville's last place Smokies put a temporary halt to the first place aspirations of Manager Lance Richbourg's high-flying Vols when Jess Petty's screw dropped the second placeers in both games of a double-header here today, 3-1 and 10-4.

Lefty Lee Moon, eccentric Knoxville hurler, limited the slugging Vols to six widely-spaced hits to take the first game. Ray Davis, ace Vol right-hander, was charged with the defeat, his fifth of the year against eleven victories.

In the nightcap, the Knoxville routed three Vol hurlers with a 15-hit attack, culminating their scoring by tallying four times in the seven to assure them of a victory.

Pels Beat Travelers To Sweep Series.

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 11.—(P)—Making a clean sweep of their series with a 9-to-4 victory over Little Rock today, the Pelicans extended their winning streak to four games and moved into fifth place in the league.

Each team used three pitchers. Del Wetherell held the Travelers to one hit in five innings then blew up in the sixth when Little Rock staged a three-run rally. Buttsman pitched to one man and when Malay hit safely Thomas was rushed in to finish the game. The Pelicans drove Brazil from the mound in the third, bunting four hits for five runs.

THE CONSTITUTION, ATLANTA, GA., FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1936.

As the 1935 Pennant Was Hoisted Last Night

The first Southern league pennant that has waved over Ponce de Leon park in 10 years was raised by Cracker officials and players last night as the team raised its percentage by beating the Lookouts, 7-0, to make a clean sweep of the four-game series. Shown above, from left to right, participating in the pennant-raising ceremonies are Johnny Hill, Cracker third baseman; Earl Mann, president of the champions; Jimmy Sanders, Southern association secretary; Calvin Griffith Jr., vice president of the Lookouts, and Al Browne, Cracker outfielder. ATHENS IS HOST TO STATE MEET

ATHENS, Ga., June 11.—Entries will close July 11 for the annual state Y. M. C. A. swimming, diving, and table tennis tournaments, which are to be held here July 18, announced L. H. Cunningham, local Y physical director, who will be in complete charge of the state events.

Three age classifications are stipulated. There will be midget, 14 years or under; junior, 17 years or under; and senior, unlimited, divisions held in both the swimming and ping-pong meets.

Following are the events to be held in the midget swimming meet: 20-yard free style, 60-yard free style, 20-yard backstroke, 20 yards breaststroke, 80 yards medley relay, fancy diving, and 30 yards free style relay.

Junior swimming meet: 40 yards free style, 100 yards free style, 220 yards free style, 40 yards breaststroke, 40 yards back stroke, 120 yards medley relay, and fancy diving. Senior swimming meet: 500 yards free style relay, 100 yards breaststroke, 100 yards back stroke, 80 yards free style, 220 yards free style, fancy diving, and 300 yards medley relay.

Both single and doubles tournaments will be held in the three ping-pong divisions.

Last summer the Y tournaments were held in Savannah and were a great success. Savannah capped the swimming meet. Columbus won the junior and senior singles in the ping-pong meet, while Athens captured the midget ping-pong meet.

Joe Engel Crossed Up On Cracker Prediction

Atlanta Certain To Be in First Place on June 15, It Seems.

By Jack Troy.

Along with other things, Joe Engel's prediction that the Crackers would not be in first place on June 15 has blown sky high. It has been rent asunder, as the saying goes, amigoes.

The Atlanta Crackers are six full games in front of the second-place Nashville club.

The Crackers could lose all of their next four games and be safely assured of first place on June 15, if Nashville should go ahead and win the next four.

For the champion Crackers in the very unlikely event of losing the next four would still lead by a safe margin, regardless of what the Vols accomplished in their four.

'Tis a pity that Jealous Joe left on the pretext of a serious business at home and as unable to be here for the concluding game of the series.

BIG IDEAS.
The Crackers did Joe Engel no favor by allowing his Lookouts to win four straight from them at Chattanooga. It gave the Chattanooga president big ideas.

For Joe came here in a balloon and departed via subway.

It's great to be able to crow, but when you have to eat the meat of the raven's half-brother—well, amigoes, that is a horse of another color.

Poor old Joe certainly ate crow in his most recent visit to the best minor league town in baseball.

I had never known him to alibi.

LOSE OLIVARES.
Joe (I don't-like-to-brag) Engel pointed out the loss of Jose Olivares, Cuban shortstop, who was hitting well over .300.

But he didn't stop to consider that Peck Hamel was not in the lineup when the Lookouts took that Sunday doubleheader at Chattanooga. Those things even up. Hamel was hitting above .300, too.

The Chattanooga president can be occasions, the farthest heard and wittiest gentleman in the park. But when the breaks are going against him, the Sphinx is a babble of sound by comparison. And so it was when he departed town. He uttered a feeble protest over injuries and silently dragged away.

BOXER PASSES.
NEW YORK, June 11.—(P)—Willie Pearce, Albany, N. Y. boxer who fought under the name of Willy Pal, died today as a result of injuries received in a boxing match Tuesday night.

WAGNER BATTLES MAULDIN ON MAT

Promoter Frank Bettis announces ladies will be admitted free to the Riverside arena tonight when accompanied by a paid escort.

George Wagner, the Texas flash who made a big hit with the fans last week by his defeat of John Mauldin, will meet Wild Bill Collins in one of the main matches.

Collins, who has recently returned from a wrestling invasion up north, claims he will pin his opponent in straight falls. Wagner states Collins will be lucky to win at all.

Count Von Hoffman, German grappler, will meet the Satin Kid in the semi-final, one-hour match.

Bob Anderson will once again meet his old foe White Patterson, in the opener. This match should prove to be a fast one with plenty of action provided.

COSTA TEAM WINS.
ATHENS, Ga., June 11.—Costa Ice Cream Plant won the first half title of the Athens Commercial Softball league here Tuesday by defeating Ferguson's Clothing Store, 10 to 8. The game was featured by seven home runs, four of them being made by the winning side.

DURHAM ALLOWS FOUR HITS; WINS HIS TENTH GAME

Bobby, Richards Drive
In Five Runs; Thomas
Slated To Pitch.

By Jack Troy.

The champion Crackers completely turned the tables on the Chattanooga Lookouts last night, winning their fourth straight game of the series, 7 to 0, in the brilliant four-hit pitching of stocky Bobby Durham before a flag-raising, roof-raising crowd of 5,335 (paid) at Ponce de Leon park.

Flag-raising night thus was made complete for the home side. They hoisted the 1935 pennant, humbled the limping Lookouts and reduced the president of the Lookouts to Joe (No Dice) Engel.

Stocky Bobby Durham, pitching a masterpiece of baseball, became the second Cracker pitcher to win his 10th game of the season.

TIGHT PITCHING.
Bill Schmidt was the first Wednesday afternoon. Schmidt got up three hits as he won No. 10, and last night Durham allowed the Lookouts four.

And, incidentally, the Crackers gained a cool one and one-half games in the pennant race of 1936 by turning back the Lookouts, Cohen and Joe (No Dice) Engel. For the lowly Smokies took a double-header from the Nashville Vols in the afternoon. Atlanta gained a full game there. And last night they got the other half game, stretching their lead to six full games.

Where, oh where, is Joe (No Dice) Engel who predicted the Crackers would be out of first place and heading for the second division by June 15?

And where, oh where, is that president of a certain southern league club which has its headquarters in the valley of the shadow of Lookout mountain who wanted to play the Crackers all season? Where, oh where, can he be?

Barons Tonight.
Anyway, now that the Crackers have so casually disposed of the limping Lookouts, they will leap back into the fray tonight at 8:30 against a tougher club, the up-and-coming Birmingham Barons of Manager Riggs Stephenson. Three weeks ago the Barons club was in last place. Today the Barons are in their place and closing fast. The Old Hose has made a difference to the club which is getting great pitching, fine fielding and steady hitting.

But Thomas, seeking his 10th victory of the season, will face the big bad Barons. Bobby Coombs or Arthur Jones will face him.

The last time the Barons were here Atlanta had no difficulty winning four straight, but the lines will be closer drawn this time.

Atlanta rapped Sid Cohen for 10 solid hits tonight and they came when they were needed. Errors hurt the Lookouts cause in the early innings. The Crackers scored their initial run as the result of an error that helped them along. And they started a four-run rally with two away in the fourth because of a bobble.

And to make the triumph all the more convincing in the face of Durham's shutout pitching, the Crackers scored two more in the eighth. Alex Hooks led off with a fine home run and singles by Lipscomb, Browne and Richards made the show complete.

Sensational fielding by the Crackers, particularly Hill, Chatham and Harris, prevented the Lookouts from spoiling Durham's magnificent performance.

There was one life-saving double play which Durham himself started. It came in the first inning with the bases loaded. Durham cut off a runner with a throw to the plate and

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

ATLANTA, June 11.—Spot cotton closed steady, middling 5 points higher, at 12.35.

NEW ORLEANS, June 11.—(P)—Cotton advanced a dollar a bale higher today as most new crop futures touched the best levels of the season. All positions crossed the 11-cent level in one hour. Demand came from both the trade and speculative interests. Offers were supplied by liquidation and some hedge selling in near positions. Cotton closed at 11.10, net gain for the day of 21 points. December closed at 11.08 and January at the same figure was 24 points higher. In the spot market, middling at New Orleans gained 7 points to 11.87.

Various reasons for the advance were offered. Continued unfavorable weather in the north, despite reports of showers, excellent reports on print cloth sales from West Street and continued expansion in the demand for American cotton has brought a more bullish attitude into the trade. Considerable of the purchasing at New Orleans today was for professional accounts.

Port receipts 2,748; week 26,304; season 6,029,838. Exports 1,306; week 673; season 10,826; week 42,940; season 5,810,292; last season 4,557,712. Port stocks 1,576,022. Stocks on shipboard at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 1,800,000. Total year 47,127. Spot sales at southern markets were 2,984; last year 3,192.

N. Y. COTTON GAINS IN ACTIVE TRADING

NEW YORK, June 11.—(P)—Cotton was more active with prices making new high ground for the movement on a continuation of the recent buying movement during the trading. All new crop months sold up or above 11 cents with October closing at 11.15. The general market closed very steady at net advances of 5 to 24 points.

The opening was barely steady at an advance of 1 point in July, but generally 1 to 2 points lower. Exports today 10,826, making a total of 5,885,935 for the season. Port receipts 2,723. Port stocks 1,577,483. According to some very close observers of the trading here, the volume of business on today's advance was more active than any time in months. Considerable reactionary sentiment was in evidence at the start, but it soon disappeared on the appearance of large orders from the market for additional supplies.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE DEALINGS

By MAX BUCKINGHAM.

(Copyright, 1936, by the United Press.)

NEW YORK, June 11.—(UP)—Wall Street gave preliminary approval to the republicans convention and shot share prices to the highest level since mid-April.

Many commodities joined in the rally but demonstration and the close found:

Stocks—Advanced 1 to more than 4 points in the general list and as much as 10 3/4 points in specialties (J. I. Case) in 1,000,000 shares turnover.

Cotton—Climbed as much as $1.25 a bale to the highest levels of the year.

Cocoa—Advanced to new highs for two years in one of the heaviest trading days in history of the exchange, 23,640,000 pounds being exchanged.

Grains—Firmed in moderate trading. The market was in a receptive mood. Firmness this week had created friends but little trading. In the last hour, however, traders became more interested. Shorts covered. Some little new speculative buying developed. Activity increased and in that hour 1,000 shares were exchanged, the heaviest single hour's transactions since May 26. The result in Dow-Jones averages:

Industrial 155.16, up 2.14, best level since April 18.

Railroad 47.07, up .47, best level since April 18.

Utility 32.50, up .24, best level since April 16.
